

School staff gets 7-percent raises

By Casey Hans
staff writer

Non-union Farmington school employees will receive a 7 percent across-the-board raise in the coming year.

That is the same percentage given to the employees last year, according to deputy superintendent Michael Flanagan.

The increases are for 28 people and represent about $75,000 to the district, he said.

Affected are central office employees and supervisors, executive secretaries and the district's three assistant superintendents. Three administrative assistants will receive slightly more than 7 percent, he said.

Several school board members said they wanted to assure that evaluations of supervisory level personnel are done in the coming year, and at least one said she wants to link them to pay raises in future years.

Another requested an evaluation schedule be formulated.

THE MATTER was discussed at a school board finance committee meeting March 1 and a recommendation approved at the regular board meeting that followed.

"There was a big hassle a year ago on this board about evaluations," said trustee Jack Cotton, who initially raised the question.

He was assured by superintendent Graham Lewis and Flanagan that evaluations will be done.

"Our intent is to do a yearly evaluation," Flanagan added.

"I think, in the future, I would like to see our approach evaluations and raises simultaneously," trustee Susan Rennels said. "I understand the situation this year... but it's something that needs to be explored."

The issue was initially raised during the selection process for a new superintendent during the summer of 1986, when trustees agreed they wanted to implement some type of evaluation system. The suggested evaluations would not include secretarial or clerical staff included in the group of 28, Lewis said.

OTHER CHANGES made for non-union staff members, include:

- Streamlining of the assistant superintendent pay levels from four to three.

- Giving the employees several additional days of vacation making the benefit "comparable to other surrounding districts," Flanagan said.

- Clarification of overtime provisions.

- Financial recognition for employees earning advanced degrees.

THE CHANGES do not involve the deputy superintendent's and superintendent's contracts, or employees covered by collective bargaining agreements.

In past years, raises for non-union employees were brought to the board earlier, Flanagan said.

Charges against cop rock Franklin

FRANKLIN RESIDENTS were stunned in February when they learned that an investigation was under way by the prosecutor's office and that Sgt. David had been suspended with pay while it was being pursued.

Thompson said the investigation was initiated on complaints of other Franklin officers who said citations and arrests they had made were not being processed.

Globb and Verdon said Tuesday after the issuance of the warrants that David would continue on suspension, but without pay, until the conclusion of the case.

Among the cases against David are the names of prominent Franklin residents, including one council trustee and the son of another.

David is alleged to have destroyed without being asked a traffic citation issued by another Franklin officer against Dewey Fraser Benson, the son of council trustee Dewey Benson.

He is also charged with failing to file a traffic accident report made by council trustee Karen Katz with the state police as required by law.

THOMPSON SAID the alleged "favors" for Benson were "totally uncollected." In fact, the two trustees didn't know anything about it until the recent investigation, he said.

"I reported my fender bender to police and to my insurance company," Katz said Tuesday. "I don't know how he felt he could benefit me by doing it."

"I wasn't aware of it and I wasn't on the council at the time," said trustee Benson about his son's citation. "My son had just graduated from college and wasn't looking for anything special. He's more upset than anybody."

Two of the charges against David are of obstruction of justice and are felonies; the rest are misdemeanors.

He is accused of obstructing justice by allegedly failing to process possession of cocaine and reckless driving arrests made two years ago against Thomas Alan Warmus, then 17, son of a prominent village resident.

The prosecutor's office this week reinstated the case against Warmus issuing a warrant for his arrest on charges of possession of cocaine less than 50 grams. Warmus, out of town, had not yet been arraigned Wednesday.

David is also accused of obstruction of justice by failing to process charges of carrying a concealed weapon and drunk driving against a Detroit resident.

Charges involving unlawful use of the LEIN computer are being processed in the Farmington district court because Franklin police use the computer at the Farmington Hills Police Department.

The other cases are before 46th District Court which handles cases from Franklin.
