Hiring an executive director, sur-veying shoppers, starting a decora-live banner program and planning for the start of $1.4 million in public improvements kept Farrington's Downlown Development Authority busy during the pasi year. An annual report detailing DDA accomplishments was presented during the DDA's March 1 meeting. That also was the group's annual meeting, when officers for the new year were tecleted, for the new year were re-elected, for the first marry Wingerter, president, Greg Hohler, vice president; and Robert Deadman, recritary.

New officers were also elected during the group's annual meeting March 1.

the DDA busy in the coming year, the report said. This year's fiscal budget was adjusted by $353.000 to accommodate this most-expensive phase, which will most likely be completed before the new fiscal year begins in July. Deadman said he was "very hope-ful" the streetscape work would be done before the annual Founders

If she seeks reinstatement of her license, Jonsson must abow "clear and convincing evidence" that she "its of good moril character," is able "to practice the pro-fession with reasonable skill and safety" and that "it is in the public interest" for hor to resume practice, ac-cording to the consent order. The disciplinary action stems from Jonsson's admis-sion that she diverted demerol and numorphan, both controlled substances, from William Beaumont Hospital in Royal Oak for personal use from Decemmber 1986 or January 1987 through March 1987, according to a Board of Nursing administrative complaint filed Nov. 5, 1987.
