

From St. Tropez to Southampton, the ubiquitous pareo is the favorite summer accessory. So pick up your maillot and this fish-printed cotton pareo by Echo and head for the beach as soon as weather permits.

Tying into spring

Flower Power in the executive suite — Echo's engraved floral-printed heavy silk crepe square spells success paired with the snappy spring suit that's narrowly belted in leather.

For romantic dreamers — the silk chiffon "garden fairytale" print scarf that's as fragile as a petal. Loop it at the neckline and add the embossed baby lizard belt, both by Echo. Available at major area department stores.

Multidimensional collections can take a woman from the boardroom to the ballroom. This season, there are more luscious colors and fresh innovative patterns than ever.

Here's a few suggestions:

- Flower Power — not the old '60s Hippie FP, but today's ultra-sophisticated, elegant florals. They're the hottest news of the season in prints and accessories.

- Provencal — inspired by the uninhibited Christian Lacroix whose first signature couture collection — the hit of the fashion world — was deeply influenced by his hometown of Arles in the south of France. A mad, merry mix of happy colors and naive patterns.

- Shock treatment — a great way to add that needed spark to the season's big fashion favorite, the short-skirted suit. One of the leading design groups, Echo, suggests sizing solids, acid green, bright yellow, hot pink, papaya, violet or Mediterranean blue — for a big square scarf or a simple silk and chiffon long length.

- Untamed — those popular animal prints are with us again for another season, and the accessory menagerie includes everything from slowpoke tortoise to the sleek leopard.
