

Redford Midgets gain 2nd

The Redford AA midget hockey team (16-17 year-olds) reached the finals before falling to South Boston, 7-3, in the championship game of the National Tournament Sunday at the Aksarben Arena in Omaha, Neb.

Eight teams from the across the country competed for the coveted title.

In the final, South Boston jumped out to a 2-0 first period lead before Redford's Rich Kendall (Thurston High), on an assist from Joe Gaffney (Thurston), cut the deficit to one at the 1:29 mark. But South Boston scored three unanswered goals before Keith Kirby (Thurston), on an assist from Bob Bates (Thurston) and Geoff Wilson (Thurston), closed out the second period scoring to make it 5-2.

South Boston scored twice in the third period and Kendall notched his second of the day, from Mike D'Antonio and Tim Pilut (Bishop Borgese), to end the scoring.

Redford lost despite outshooting its opponent, 27-18.

On Friday, Redford opened the tournament with a 3-1 loss to Binghamton, N.Y., as Nick Renzi (Plymouth Salem) scored the lone goal from Kendall and Lyle Fegert.

REDFORD BOUNCED back to defeat Portland (Ore.) in a second round game Friday, 12-5.

Redford led 5-2 after one period and only 7-5 after two before outscoring the Oregonians, 6-1 in the final period.

Pilut led the scoring assault with four goals and three assists. D'Antonio and Kendall added two each, while Kirby and Bingham each tallied one goal and four assists. Fegert, Mark Davidson (Thurston) and Matt Megregian also scored goals in the Redford win.

On Saturday, Redford outlasted South Boston, 6-3, as Kendall scored the winning goal from Fegert and Davidson with only 1:54 left.

Pilut had the hat trick for the winners, while Bingham and Renzi completed the Redford scoring. Goalie Howie Schenckfeldt (Thurston), with help from defenseman Jim Ford, kicked away 24 shots.

The win created a three way tie between Redford, Binghamton and South Boston in the American Division, but Redford and South Boston each advanced based on the tie-breaker format based on goals for and goals against.

THAT PUT Redford in the semifinals Sunday against defending national champion Team Toledo.

Undaunted, Redford skated to a thrilling 3-2 victory, tallying three straight goals in the final period as Pilut notched the game-winner from Bingham with 7:55 remaining after Kendall and Bingham opened the third period with goals to knot the score at 2-2.

Goalie Louie Frey made the lead stand up as Redford reached the final.

But with only a four-hour break in between games, Redford may have run out of gas in the championship.

Redford, coached by Kirk Hunter, finished its banner season with a 43-14-1 record.

Pilut finished as the team's top scorer with 53 goals and 61 assists for 114 points. Kendall was second with 88 points.

Prep icers show plenty of balance

THE 1987-88 All-AREA hockey team has been downsized from 17 to 12 players.

But that doesn't mean there are less talented players among Observerland's four schools.

The choices for the first and second team slots were difficult, considering all four teams combined for an overall season record of 60-25-7.

Suburban Prep Hockey League champion Livonia Stevenson landed three players on the first team. Redford Catholic Central, another state-ranked team, placed two among the first six. Both Livonia Franklin and Livonia Churchill are also represented.

Ironically, for the first time in recent memory, an Observerland team failed to make it out of regional play.

But there's always next year and look for some of these underclassmen to make an impact in 1988-89.

FIRST TEAM

Gordie Wilson, forward, Livonia Stevenson. A senior winger, Wilson tallied a total of 31 goals and 33 assists. He led the SPHL in scoring en route to all-league and all-state honors. In the All-Stater Game, played March 20, he racked up two goals and two assists.

"Gordie is a big, strong, tough winger," said Stevenson coach Matt Mulcahy. "For a big guy he is also a good skater."

A senior all-stater, Bsharah's best attributes were his willingness to go in the corners and dig out the puck.

Coach Jack Gumberton called him "a good leader and team player."

Bsharah was named second team all-west Division in the Michigan Metro circuit.

His season totals were 19 goals and 21 assists.

Lee Genovese, forward, Livonia Stevenson. A senior, Genovese was small, but lightning quick and strong for his size.

SECOND TEAM

For: Charlie Olschanski, forward, Livonia Franklin; Larry Bsharah, forward, Redford CC; For: Mike Knelding, forward, Redford CC; For: Jim Hubenschmidt, forward, Redford CC; For: Dan Murray, forward, Livonia Franklin; For: Paul Strauch, forward, Livonia Stevenson.

HONORABLE MENTION

He was named to the All-SPHL team and finished the year with a total of 25 goals and 26 assists.

He was probably Stevenson's best clutch scorer.

Bill Batty, defense, Redford CC: Made the All-Area squad last year as a junior. By far the area's best defenseman, the senior all-stater scored 10 goals and 18 assists.

"Bill had both offensive and defensive skills," said Gumberton. "He made it hard to get the puck away from him."

Tim Siedlaczek, defense, Livonia Churchill: The Chargers' assistant captain enjoyed a banner senior season. He had three goals and 17 assists.

He sacrificed for the team, according to coach Rudy Varvari.

"Tim was a good hitter and was intense," said the Churchill coach. "He was willing to move up to forward, if needed. Very coachable with a good grade point average."

Paul Strauch, goalie, Livonia Stevenson: A senior all-leaguer, Strauch posted six shutouts and a goals against average
