

No surprise as U-M appoints Duderstadt

By Tim Richard
staff writer

James Duderstadt said he will do some fence mending with unhappy University of Michigan students by the time he takes office Sept. 1 as the world-class institution's 11th president.

"It's a diverse student body," said the 45-year-old physicist, adding he felt "strong among the broad majority."

But David Newblatt, a U-M liberal arts student from Clarkson, revealed to reporters Friday that the student advisory committee to the U-M Board of Regents was displeased by Duderstadt's candidacy.

Did they favor another candidate? "Yes," Newblatt answered. "Who else did the panel interview for the presidency? 'I can't reveal how many and who,' the student said."

THE BOARD of Regents Friday went through the motions of interviewing Duderstadt, U-M's chief academic officer for the past two years and previously dean of the engineering school, before voting 6-0 to appoint him president.

The state's Open Meetings Act requires that all finalists for a post must be interviewed in open session — a provision the regents obeyed by interviewing only Duderstadt in public. The Ann Arbor News and Detroit Free Press used unsuccessfully in Washtenaw Circuit Court to block the regents' closed meetings.

Regents James Waters and Deane Baker were absent Friday but sent written messages concurring in the choice of Duderstadt, indicating the appointment had been decided on before the meeting.

The Free Press that morning reported Duderstadt would be chosen, citing "sources close to the presidential search process." A 1987 Board of Regents resolution says that "a revelation of a name under consideration will be considered a breach of trust."

Asked how the person who looked the news to the Free Press would be punished, Duderstadt replied, "I don't know the intent of the regents," and didn't answer the question.

NEWBLATT, ALLOWED by the regents to speak at the regents' open interview — the only open meeting in the 14-month search — asked Duderstadt his view of acting president

James Duderstadt
"cherish diversity"

Robben Fleming's student code of non-academic conduct.

Duderstadt supported it, and that displeased Newblatt, who in an interview deplored the "trend toward regulation of speech, expression and private lives in general."

He added, "The process he favors lends itself to violating student rights." Newblatt deplored the process of "administrative hearings" involving students' "freedom of expression and sit-ins."

In his answers to other questions, Duderstadt repeatedly used the phrases "listen and learn" in describing his own administrative style and "cherish diversity" in telling his hopes for a 21st-century multicultural campus rather than a 19th-century "melting pot."

BUT IF THE student spokesman was cool, the Board of Regents and area people close to U-M were warm in their praise.

Regent Philip H. Power of Ann Arbor, chairman of Suburban Communications Corp., noted Duderstadt grew up in a Missouri town of 3,000 where the tallest structures were the courthouse and grain elevators; that he lettered in four high school sports and married his high school sweetheart, a cheerleader; and that his first job was on a farm.

"Not the background of an international research university," quipped Power, who then zeroed in on Duderstadt's administrative style and "reputation as a pusher."

"You can't take the farm out of the boy," replied Duderstadt, who said his small-town attitude that "people are basically genuine, well-intentioned and to be trusted" hadn't changed — not even after his four undergraduate years at Yale.

Duderstadt said he "never had an original thought" but could pick good people, "push them to the limits of their ability, then get out of the way."

CYNTHIA HUGHINS, an aide to U.S. Rep. Carl Pursell, R-Plymouth, called Duderstadt "clearly a mover." She and Pursell, whose district includes the U-M's Ann Arbor campus, recognized since Duderstadt's days as dean of engineering that he would work in the area of economic development. Hughins was a Republican candidate for U-M regent in 1986.

Pursell said through a spokesman he was "very, very pleased" at the appointment and found Duderstadt "eminently qualified."

Hughins' mother, Alice Haidostian of Bloomfield Township, knows Duderstadt from her work as president of the U-M alumnae council and other volunteer work. "From the beginning," Haidostian said, "they talked about what a terrific future he had, not realizing that, Harold Shapiro would leave so soon."

Haidostian also was pleased that the new president, despite his physics and engineering background, placed a high value on liberal arts and global thinking.

Duderstadt said that in the last year U-M had made great progress in recruiting minority students and hiring minority faculty members.

Asked in an interview about a reported shift of metro-Detroit suburban students to Michigan State University, Duderstadt said, "We have not seen it. The number of applications (from the suburbs) has been stable. And the quality is the highest in history."

DUDERSTADT replaces Shapiro, who left Dec. 31, after eight years, to become president of Princeton University.

Thus, he becomes the second "insider" to head U-M. Shapiro was chairman of the economics department and dean of the liberal arts college before becoming president in 1979, succeeding Fleming. The other top finalists reportedly were Vartan Gregorian, director of the New York public library, and Steven Sample of the State University of New York.

An expert in theoretical physics and mathematics, Duderstadt is author of eight textbooks.

Doctors Invent 'Lazy Way' to Lose Weight

New 'Fat-Magnet' Diet Pill Gives You Steady Fat Loss

BEVERLY HILLS, CA (Special)—An amazing new weight loss pill called "fat-magnet" has recently been developed and perfected by two prominent doctors at a world famous hospital in Los Angeles that reportedly "guarantees" to help you steadily lose fat by simply taking their tested and proven new pill.

You Can "Eat Normally"

Best of all, "you can continue to eat all of your favorite foods as long as you don't increase your normal eating habits. You can start losing fat from the very first day, until you achieve the ideal weight you desire."

It is a totally new major scientific breakthrough for weight loss (worldwide patents pending).

Flushes Fat Out of Body

The new pill is appropriately called the "fat-magnet" pill because it breaks into thousands of particles, each acting like a tiny magnet, "attracting" and trapping many times its size in undigested fat particles from food that you have just eaten. Then, the trapped fat is naturally "flushed" right out of your body.

Within 2 days you should notice a change in the color of your stool, caused by the fat particles being eliminated.

"Pills Go To Work"

The fat-magnet pills alone, "automatically" help reduce calories by eliminating dietary fat, fat not excreting. You simply take the pills with a glass of water before meals. However, you can lose weight "faster" if you choose to follow the fat-magnet diet plan along with the pills.

The fat-magnet pills are already sweeping the country with record sales and glowing reports of weight loss. It's a "lazy way" to lose weight for people who enjoy eating.

Now Available to Public

If you need to lose a large or small amount of weight, you can order your supply of these new highly successful fat-magnet pills and diet plan (now available from the doctor's exclusive manufacturer by mail or phone order only) by sending $20 for a 90 pill supply (+$2 handling), or $35 for a 180 pill supply (+$3 handling), cash, check or money order to: Fat-Magnet, 9016 Wilshire Blvd., Dept.
