Marion displays pitching talent in showcase event

pressed the viewers if the game had been televised.
He retired the top of the West in order on a groundout, popout and strikeout in the eighth. It was virtually the same in the ninth — an infield liner to second and two outfield flyouts.

Marion's late-game pitching stint eased the disappointment over two unsuccessful times at bat early in the game.
He started in left field — Rogers opened and played five innings at second — and struck out when he came up against Matt Bauer (Saginaw Nouvel Catholic Central) in the second and Dan Brown (Dexter) in the fourth.

"When you pitch well, you tend to forget the strikeouts," Marion said. "It's always good to end on a good note."

"I CAN FORGET about the at-bats and say I pitched pretty well. That made my day."

Rogers, who assisted on two putouts, had a day similar to Marion, grounding out to second and short in his two at-bats.

He still enjoyed the opportunity to play at Tiger Stadium, though it didn't top winning the Class A title his junior year as far as high school thrills are concerned.

"I did but I wish I would have hit a little better," he said. "I played the field well, I thought."

"It's tough competition when you've got 18 of the best guys on each team. And it's not a win-or-lose situation. It was fun facing some of the top pitchers."
"I played five innings and couldn't ask for much more," he added. "I had my chances."

MARION, WHO has hit .400-plus with power the last two seasons at Salem, also was philosophical about his plate appearances.
"That's life. Everyone out there can throw," he said. "We struck out 16 times as a team today, so I don't feel too bad.

"Everybody here has the same dream — to hit one in the upper deck."

"I was a little anxious. I was looking for the fastball over the plate, but I didn't see that pitch."

Darin Dreasky of Flint Carman-Alsworth, who was named MVP for the West, realized the dream of which Marion spoke, and it was especially noteworthy because of the pitcher who threw him the gopherball — Steve Avery of Taylor Kennedy, the No. 3 pick in the recent Major League draft.

The one-out, first-inning shot gave the West a 1-0 lead that held up until the fourth when Craig Mayes of Warren, the MVP on the East, hit the first of two doubles to drive in the tying run.

IT STAYED THAT way until the seventh when the roof collapsed on the East, which used three pitchers in the one inning. Marion would have made it four had Dearborn Divine Child's Dennis Hamilton not been able to get out the inning.
Phil VanAssche of East Detroit put the West's second and third runs on base and became the eventual loser when Dreasky, who knocked in the go-ahead run, Dan Warnar (Lansing Everett) and Bauer hit consecutive RBI singles off reliever Kevin Knoche of Mount Clemens Clintondale.

That knocked Knoche off the mound and brought on Hamilton, who proceeded to give up a two-run double to Scott Crocker (Niles) and an RBI single to Chris Bobo (Willow Run) before shutting off the West assault.

Marion, obviously recovered from the arm trouble that kept him out the final three weeks of the high school season, was up in the bullpen and preparing to come in when it appeared Hamilton would fare no better than VanAssche, Knoche or Hamilton.

THE EAST CUT the deficit in half when Avery, who pitched three innings, allowed three hits, struck out four and walked one, slammed the ball over the head of center fielder Steve Buerkle (Livonia) for a two-run triple.

Avery, trying for an inside-the-park homer, scored on the play but as the result of a throwing error.
Chris Galloway (Jackson) pitched two innings and got the victory. Prior to the decisive seventh inning, the East had runners at second and third with no outs in the sixth, but Galloway pitched out of the jam with three straight strikeouts.
