ninutes. Hollywood and sexist view of Afri-1. but Prince Akeem (Eddle Murca, but Prince Akeem (Eddle Murphy) rebols against arranged marrage and visits New York to find his own bride. The prod news is Murphy plays a character instead of playing Eddle Murphy, and he has some touching scenes with his American girl, Lisa (Shari Headkey). The bad news is despite some funny stuff, there's too much adolescent humor.

"Short Circuit 2" (B) (FG) Running time unavailable. The maturation of Number 5 to Johns) Five continues in a clever sequel, but a lot of the cleverness gets lost in Five's machine talk and Ben's Indian accent. The bad guys aren't too convincing and Ben's new human sidekick doesn't have Steve Guttenberg's charm or energy.

Someone to Love (B) (R) 105 min-

"Someone to Love (B) {R} 105 minutes. An area masterpiece discussion of love, life, family, loneliness and femlinism with Orson Welles, in his last lifm appearance, sitting in the back row playing the supreme being. Superh performances by Andrea Marcoviect, Sally Kellerman and director Henry Japlom. Philosophie discussions, however interesting, may bore some viewers.

"Who Framed Roger Rubblt" (A-) STILL PLAYING:

(PG)110 minutes.

Pure entertainment in this technically amazing combination of live action and animation. Private get Eddie Vallant (Bob Hoskins) saves the day by helping Roger Rabbit beat a bum rap, Hoskins' acting is super in tough situation where he had to work with blank walls and imagine cartoon characters, which were inserted later.
