Sieve Herdoiza, who grew up as a member of the Bioomileid Open Hout Club, brushed back live opposition to the second annual Top Chipmon and the second annual Top Chipmon annual to the second annual Top Chipmon annual to the second annual Top Chipmon annual to the grown after defeating Susan Sommerville in a rematch of last year's championship.

Herdoiza, seeded No. 4 in the 30-player men's draw, defeated Mark Woldmoe from Indianapolis straight sets, 6-3, 6-2. Herdoiza advanced to the championship match with a straight set victory over top-seeded Britan Page and Woldmoe climhated Southleid resident David Drew in his semificial match.

It was one of the best ournaments I ever played in," said Her-doiza. a 1987 graduate of Bloomfield Hills Lahser High School. "There were a lot of people cheering for me, and my family and friends got to see me play, so, from that viewpoint, it was great.

"I was astisted with my play. I hadn't played in a tournament since I was in the NCAA's about a month ago. I had been working on a few things, like my serves and volleys. It was great to see they were falling into place for mo.
"I had planned on playing in this tournament since last summer," he said. "And playing as well as I did made it that much more special."

HERIDOIZA FINISHED as runner up in the Michigan High School Ath-letic Association (MHSAA) Class A state championships his senior year at Lahser. He went on to Northwest-ern University where he completed his freshman year this spring. He played most of the season at

"I didn't expect that big of a jump (from high school to college)," said Herdoiza. "It was tough at the begin-ning and I didn't do too well in the fall. But things really picked up for so in 1888.

"It's just the fact you're really with quality players every day that really helps your own game," he said.

Despite the absence of Luke Jensen from the men's field and Carrie Cunningbam from the women's field (both had unforeseen commitments in other tournaments), organizers were happy with the new invitation-al format which eliminated a num-ber of amalifying markets ber of qualifying matches.

Boxer beaten in U.S. Trials

Kermit Fitzpatrick's amateur boxing days appear to be over.
The super-heavyweight from the Livonia Boxing Club lost in his bid to advance in the U.S. Olympic Trials Tuesday, losing a unanimous 5-0 decision to Robert Salters, a marine from Camp Lejeune, N.C. The Trials are being held this week at Diablo Valley Junior College in Pleasant Valley, Calif.
Fitzpatrick made a better showing in his second meeting against Salters. The two had met in the U.S. Amateur Boxing Championships April 1 with Salters knocking down the 26-year-old state trooper from Highland Park twice on standing eight-counts.
"He fought much better than the last time," said Livonia Boxing Club coach Paul Soucy. "He boxed more instead of trying to brawl. But Salters had too much height (6 feet, 4 inches, 235 pounds) and he had a good jab. Kermit gol in some good shots, but he (Salters) was hard to overcome."
Soucy said he was not turilled with the compoter draw, which paired the U.S. Amateur finalists in the first round.
