Thursday, July 14, 1988 O&E

meadow to Shiawassee look over plans for the new location as movers prepare to unload. Pictured are Pam O'Malley (left), director of school and community relations; Betty Wolford, su-pervisor of public relations; and Terry Klenczar, supervisor of adult and community education.

More moves

School district shifting programs for fall

T'S A FAR cry from a few years ago, when schools were closing and enrollments were declining.

Increased elementary enroll-ments, new pilot programs and ex-panding departments are causing the Farmington school district to play "musical chairs" this summer, as programs are shifted to different buildings to accommodate the changes.

changes.

Some of these include:

Highmeadow School — Reopened last year as a community education center, Highmeadow will become a pilot elementary school this fall, with specialized programs or choice for the 300 students who will attend from across the district. In addition, programs for gifted students will be built into the regular curriculum. The pilot will run for two years.

Shiawassee Center — A former elementary school, and most recently home to Boys Republic, the district's staff development department, Farmington Youth Assistance and other variety programs, Shiawassee's purpose will change this year. The community and adult education programs that moved from Ten Mile School to Highmeadow last year will now be boused here. The Head Start program will be shifted from Alameda Early Childhood Center to Shiawassee, as well. Boys Republic grounds on Niew to the Boys Republic grounds on Niew to the Boys Republic grounds on Niew to the Boys Republic grounds on Niew Lobes of the Shiawassee, as well. Boys Republic grounds on Niew Lobes of Republic Programs will move to the Boys Republic grounds on Niew Shie, but the district media center will remain here, at least for now, school officials said.

at least for now, school officials said.

Ten Mile School — Located behind the Lewis Schulman Administrative Center and part for the New York of the New York

Geoff Pavilc of Livonia carries chairs into Shiawassee Center, The Farmington school district's community and adult educa-tion program was moved last week from Highmeadow School to Shiawassee.

My inkwell

Inkwell provides news and in-formation about Farmington-area primary and secondary stu-dents. The column appears monthly throughout the year as part of the Observer's "School Page." Send news items to: The School Page, Farmington Observ-er, 33203 Grand River, Farming-ton 48024. Include a telephone number where a contact person can be reached during the day.

ALL A AVERAGE
Michael Hovannian of Farmington Hills was the only student at O.E.
Dunckel Middle School to achelve an all A average this school year. His accomplishment was not only in regular subjects, but also in advance placement math class taken at North Farmington High and an advanced English class taken at Dunckel.

Havnenian Hovnanian, a cellist who played with the Dunckel Concert Orchestra, also recognized by receiving the National School Orchestra Award. He will attend North Farmierte the fell.

● PHI BETA KAPPA
Mark Mayotte, a senior at Birmingham Brother Rice High School and a Farmington Hills residen; received the Matilda R. Wilson Fund May 2 at the Detroit Association of Phi Beta Kappa's honors convocation.

ington this fall.

• INSTITUTE BOUND

e INSTITUTE BOUND Marianne Donobue was chosen to participate in one of six national institutes sponsored by the U.S. Department of Energy liks month.
The Walled Lake Central High School senior will study environmental science research at Oak Ridge National Laboratory in Tennessee.
She was chosen for high academic achievement and achievements in science.

U-D GRADS

e U-D GRADS
A number of Farmington-area residents graduated from the University of Detroit High, an all-male Catholic school run by Jesuit priests in Detroit, May 26.
They included: Michael James Daray of Farmington Hills, Todd J. Elliott of Farmington Hills, Todd J. Elliott of Farmington Hills, David Michael Finnegan of Farmington, Christopher John Martin of Farmington Hills, Revin Patrick Hause of Farmington Hills, Revin Patrick Hause of Farmington Hills and Thaddeus A. Wojcik of Farmington Hills.

STUDENT LEADER
 Katie Kretler, a June graduate of Farmington High School, met with some of the nation's leading scientist, abhlete, business people and artists as part of the "Saluts to Ex cellence" weekend — a tribute to the nation's leaders of today and tomor-

Such notables as Washington Post executive editor Ben Bradles, sing-er Minnle Pearl, actor Richard Dreyruss and mu-sician Wynton Marsalis were a few of the particle sponsored by En-annica.

cyclopaedia Britannica.

cyclopaedia Britannica.

Kretier will be knored at a "welcome know" luncheon today at the Botsford Inn in Farmington Hills, where she was named "Young Achiever of the Year." She was one lod 150 top high school knows structure attending the weeksand. In Machettle.

• ODE TO HARRISON

Two parents of Farmington Hills Harrison High School graduates sent a letter to principal Clayton Graham, thanking the staff and stu-dents for their children's experienc-es.

dents for their children's experience."
"Most of all, we have been repeatedly touched and amazed by the unique callber of the student them selves — their conders. Character of the control of the contro

Their daughter, Jocelyn, graduated from Harrison in June. Their son, David, graduated three years ago.

• 5 GRADUATE

• 5 GRADUATE Five young women from Farming-ton Hills graduated recently from Marian High School, an all-girls Catholic high school in Birmingham. They include: Sharon Allmen, An-drea Cecchini, Nita Mandel, Erin Quaine and Rozana Walsh. Com-mencement was held May 31.

BAND ENTERTAINS

The Farmington Hills Harrison
High Marching Band entertained puests at Cedar Point June 5. The 60nember marching band performed at locations along the midway under the direction of Mark Phillips.

"The high school band performances have been a tradition at Cedar Point for many summers," said Jack Aldrich, director of park attractions at Cedar Point in Sandusky, Ohlo.

asy, Unio.

EARN SCHOLARSHIPS
Local elementary school students were awarded music scholarships for summer study at Blue Lake Fine Arist Camp at Twin Lake.
They include Melanie Fischer of Longacre, Hastibew Rendall of Wood
Longacre, Hastibew Rendall of Wood
Laskahire, Jollana Turse of William Grace, Jason Habich of Forest, Fardly Birkst of Kenbrook, John Aratari of Wooddale, Sean Penderel of Beechview and Sara Zuckman of Eagle.
Each $190 scholarship is awarded by the Marshall Music Co, of Laning, Students have the opportunity to Each $190 scholarship is awarded by the Marshall Music Co. of Lans-ing. Students have the opportunity to play under the direction of national-ly-known conductors.

play under the direction of national-ly-known conductors.

GRADB ACCEPTED
Farmington-area high school graduates were accepted into the Galland University freshmen class of more than 1,000 stodents.

They include:

• Farmington High School graduates Leeanne Britts who will major in psychology, Ted Maier who will major in psychology, Ted Maier who will major and Kelly Robbins who will major nelementary education.

• Barrison High graduate Karen Levinson, who has not selected a major.

Levinson, who has not selected a major.

Mercy High School graduate Jennifer Antone who has not selected a major.

The selected a major was selected a major.

The selected is a selected a major was selected on a major. Lies aprellabilit, a pyrichology major. Christy Hicks, a history major and Amy Sellik who is modecided on a major.

Southfield Christian High graduate Jerry Stateman plans to major in business administration.

They include: Harrison High grad-uate Jennifer Bliznik, North Farm-ington High graduate Christopher Cahill and Farmington High gradu-ate Michael Neal.

STANDOUT SENIOR

ate Michael Neal.

© STANDOUT SENIOR
Detroit Country Day School graduate Christopher Clinaki, of Farmington Hills, was elected by faculty to receive the Amy and Alden Shaw Award.

Named for Country Day's founding headmaster and his wife, this cup is given annually to the senior who, by his or her cooperation and contribution, best furthers the principles and ideals of the Beverly Hills school.

Glinski was Summa Cum Laude hin his junior year and achieved Magna Cum Laude honors during his other three years of upper school file was been deed to the was named and served a class treasurer for the past three years. An outstanding athlet, he was named an All-State player in both lacrosse and football. He was capala of the football team this year.

Glinski plans to attend the Whar-Glinski plans to attend the War-Glinski plans co-capialn of the football (eam this year. Nginski plans to attend the Wharton School of Business of the University of Pennsylvania this fail.

Other Farmington Hills residents graduated from the school in June:
Straj Bohra, Patrick Devereaux, Stoven Edward, Patrick Pennsylvania, Patrick Patrick, Patrick Patrick, Patr

Shin and Faziur Zahuruliah.

3 SCHOLARSHIPS

Three Farmington High School graduates were awarded $1,000 recognition of excellence scholarships through Eastern Michigan University in Ypaliant recently.

They are Lisa Smith, Christine Taube and Angela Zaino.

• LEARNING CENTER

A per center for advanced language.

A new center for advanced learn-ing opened in Farmington Hills. The Wehril Center, owned by educator Kitty Wehril, opened June 6 at its new location at 28423 Orchard Lake new location at 28223 commew location at 28223 commew location at 28223 comments of teaching individuals to increase their educational output and effectiveness. The center accepts students of all ages.

cepts students of an ages.

SAFETY PATROL

Jason Verlinde, a AAA Michigan
Safety patroller from William Grace Elementary in Farmington Hills, participated in the annual Safety Patrol Recognition Day at Bobio Istrol Recognition way as the land.

The 7,000 Michigan students contributed 300 volunteer hours to help 1.3 million fellow students arrive safely at school and home during the 1987-85 school year.

1987-88 school year.

CLASS OPTIONS
High school students in the Farmington district are reminded that they can take 23 "center" courses, although some may be located at a different high school.

Students from any of the three high schools may elect these class offerings, and will be bused by the district to and from their home school.

The classes loclode:

Farmington High School
Latin 1,3,3,4; Photo/printing, production arts; architectural drafting, regardineering drafting, medical skills 1,5, ckild development 3; preschools.

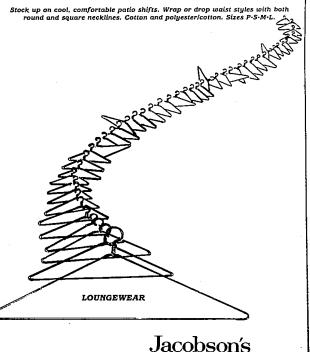

seminar.

e Harrison High School — German 1,2,34; Advance Placement Chemistry, Advance Placement Physics, secretarial procedures.

e North Farmington High School

TVB-10 intern; wood shoo 1,2: al skille 1.2.

R

n's Charge or the American Express* Cord