

Corporate volunteer lawyers are honored

Leo Simpson of Farmington Hills was among a team of lawyers cited by the Detroit Bar Association Volunteer Lawyers Program when it named Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Michigan "Corporate Volunteer Lawyer of the Year."

The BCBSM team of volunteer lawyers contributed 150 hours of free legal counsel this year to individuals unable to pay for the services.

"About a third of the BCBSM lawyers have been involved during the three years the corporation has participated in the program," said Simpson, deputy general counsel at BCBSM.

"The volunteer lawyers sometimes are called upon to work weekends or visit clients at home, but the lawyers believe the benefits outweigh the sacrifices," Simpson said.

Cases assigned range from social security, disability disputes to clearing traffic records and landlord-tenant disputes.

36th District Judge Denise Page Hood of Detroit, who chairs the Volunteer Lawyers Program, presented the company's lawyers with a plaque. BCBSM edged out other major corporations and law firms in winning the significant group contributor award.

The Detroit Bar Association Volunteer Lawyers Program has been recognized by the American Bar Association as the best public service program of its kind in the country.

Oliver's Pizza expands

Dominick Oliver, president of Farmington Hills-based Oliver's Pizza, announces new store openings in Birmingham, Brighton, Clinton Township, St. Clair Shores and Jacksonville, Fla.

"We are excited about our continued growth in Michigan, as well as our expansion outside. At this time last year we had only eight stores locally. Our announcement brings our Michigan total to 30 stores," Oliver said.

Oliver's Pizza is a pizza franchise company with locations in Michigan, Florida and Texas. Earlier this year, Oliver's was awarded an exclusive contract with the Palace of Auburn Hills.
