

Women honored for landscapes

Two area women landscape architects are among 18 whose work is featured in "Landscape Architecture as Art," at the Michigan Women's Historical Center and Hall of Fame in Lansing through Sept. 23.

They are: Maureen L. Lawlis, landscape architect with Michael J. Dul & Associates of Birmingham, and Phyllis Ross of Paul Nakolan Design Associates of Troy. Lawlis' project is Regency Park and Ross' is the Michigan Osteopathic Medical Corporation Child Mental Health Facility.

This show, the first of its kind, was coordinated by Miriam Rutz, associate professor of the landscape architecture program at Michigan State University.

"When I was recruited into this field in an affirmative action push in 1977 there were not many women working in the state on landscape architecture," she said.

"This exhibit would not have been possible. Now they are doing fabulous projects. More than 50 percent of my students are women. This show is really a statement that women have arrived in this profession."
