Farmington sets sights on 5th straight title

By Steve Kowalski staff writer

Champions come and go in the Western Lakes Activities Association.
But in boys cross country, Farmington High has captured the title four ears running, and a fifth crown isn't out of the question.
The Falcons are young, but ready to continue their supremacy behind indice oc-captains Brad Moore and Paul Brandt. They are the only seniors on hat the part of the part of the supremacy behind the supremacy behi the 18-man roster.

Farmington was 8-1 in dual meets last year, placed second at the regional and eighth in the Class A state meet.
Moore, a two-year letterman, earned second-team All-Observer honors last fall with a best time of 16:40. The return of Moore helps ease the loss of Brandon London, a first-team All-Observer runner now at Eastern Michigan. Also gone are Steve Quennewille, Ron Smedley and Matt Walter.
Junior Greg Endres is another one of Farmington's promising returnees, clocking a 16:56 last fall. Also brack for their junior campaigns are Matt Langdon and Rob Holloway.
Farmington coach Jerry Young also is excited about his crop of new-comers, including Ben Goba, a sophomore who wasn't able to run last year because of a broken leg.

Last spring, a healthy Goba ran a 10:19 two-mile for Farmington's track team. Also coming out is junior Gene Tokraks, a transfer from Indiana.

Darius Mehraban, Mark Mitchell and Kevin Vanord are new runners who will add depth, Young sald.

"We lack experience, confidence and up-front strength," he said. "If we are to be tough in 1988, it will be later in the season. Our strength is that we have 11 good runners and our depth will help us at times."

Simpson is a good bet to make it back to the Class A meet, saving clocked a fic29 last year. "Jeff is definitely improved and a lot stronger." Welch said. "I hope he goes to state. I think he has a real good chance to do well in the WLAA where quite a few teams lost their lop runners." Only one other senior, dim Nader, returns from the '87 team. The junior class is led by Jason Biederman, who was injured much of last fall, Scott Simpson and David Geris.

A group of runners that competed on the junior varsity will add depth to the varsity. Among them are sophomores Mark Harwin, Josh Chinitz and Phil Bindon. Senior Jason Kocembo also will contribute. "Overall, we have a better team than last year," Welch said. "Most of our runners are unproven, though, and the only benefit is they're a year older. They know what to expect in the league and some of the invitationals."

Raiders rout Novi in opener North Farmington came roaring out of the starting gate Thursday night, thumping Novi 61-33 in its girls basketball season debut. The Raiders were running and gunning from the start, and 5-foot-3 guard Kim Gurecki ended up the leading secrer with 19 points. Veteran forward Donna O'Brien chipped in 13, and center Vikki Seamons had 10 points and 13 rebounds. Gurecki, a junior in her second year as the starting point guard, also had seven assists as North put coach Greg Capling's preseason plan into practice. "We did a good job of pushing the ball up the floor and hitting the open man," he said. "We got floor and hitting the open man," he said. "We got the ball out and got (the fast break) going. "We played good defense and rebounded well, he had been supported by the same shots, and we're not working the ball offensively." "The Ronan's 15 points paced the Knights. LAKELAND 53, HARRISON 27: Deana Hicks scored 20 points to lead her Milford ballclub past the Hawks in the season opener Thursday. Harrison tralled 10-8 after one period, but sec-ond-quarter turnovers tipped the scales in a deci-sive manner. The Eagles outscored the Hawks 18-5 and lead 41-15 at the end of three periods.

Darcy Pinzi had eight points and 12 rebounds or Harrison, and Karen Najarian added seven

The Hawks were 10-of-18 shooting free throws. While that was little more than 50 percent, it was an improvement over last season's average of 30 percent, coach Jim Neve noted.

- The offense appears to be in fine shape after Farmington Harrison disposed of Redford Union by a 4-0 count in the team's soccer season opener Wednesday.

But the most encouraging news could be the Hawks have found a replacement for graduated all-stater Peter VanVliet at the stopper position on defense.

Ben Pinsky, though only a freshman, played well enough to carn coach Glenn Bruehan's praise for his performance in the '88 debut.

"HE'S VERY strong defensively and made some nice offensive runs," Bruchan said. "He had a couple chances to score, and I expect he's going to score goals for us.

"Ben looks like the player to replace Peter," he added.

the Falcon defense took over for the duration of the contest.

"We played really well on defense," said Cole, citing the play of sweeper Mike Waker. "He did an outstanding job running the defense, slowing (the opposition) down and pushing them out."

Defender Mike Popyk and forward Mike Gammerath also had impressive first games, Cole added. Greg Bjedov and Mike Sheehy shared the coalkeeping dules.
