Pioneers fail to win tourney

Maybe the gods who govern soccer just refuse to smile upon Oakland University.

There's no better reason for the Ploneers' horrible luck in a tournament they sponsor every year, but never with.

Their fortunes held true again in this year's edition of the National Invitational Soccer Tournament. Here's how the 'coaches from both teams— Gary Parsons from Ut and Paul LeSueur from C.W. Post — described Sunday's champlonship match:

Parsons: "I thought we outplayed

match:
Parsons: "I thought we outplayed
them. We had the belter chances."
LeSueur. "I thought Oakland dominated, especially in the first half.
They played with confidence, they had some good (seoring) chances. We were making poor decisions, and we were not confident."
Poet naturally.

So WDO WOIT CO. T. 1 CO. T. 1 CO. T. 1 CO. T. 1 CO. T. THE GAME'S only goal came with just over 12 minutes remaining, and it was the only break of the match for Post. An OU corner kick was cleared back to middield, where Post's Jim Positilico punched it past the OU defenders toward the OU goal, then took off after it. Keeper Ralph Torre raced out to try and clear the ball, but Positilico got to it first, etuded Torre's attempted slide tackle and popped it into the net. "We didn't execute on our comer kick," said Parsons. "They cleared it out and we overcommitted at mid-field. Their guy (Positilico) did a wonderful job carrying it in.

out and we overcommitted at midfield. Their guy (Foillite) did a wonderful job carrying it in.
This one is very disappointing.
Maybe we weren't meant to win this.
Maybe I should take this weekend
if it is would be the man to win this.
Maybe I should take this weekend
if IT WOULD have improved his team's luck, maybe Parsons' should have gone to the Silverdome or Tiger Stadium for the afternoon. His presence couldn't faiten those teams fortunes any further.
But if a scapegoat is warranted, the OU players needn't look any further than the nearest mirror. All that really stopped them was themselves.
Twice in the first half, middfelder Dan O'Shea put excellent passes at the goal's mouth. The first, from the left corner with 9:21 left, was headed over the net by Erik Expedy; the second, from near midfield with 30 seconds remaining, dropped at the edge of the goal but no one could reach it.
With 7:05 left in the opening half,

851-7404

OU misfired on another perfect op-portunity. A corner kick was headed toward the goal by John Stewart — and was stopped by the crossbar. Simon Mayo got to the rebound, then shot over the net.

shot over the net.

THERE WERE similar chances
for O'U in the second he'd, with similar results.

"We're having a real hard time scoring goals right now," said Parsons. "The way we played, we should have scored more than we did. We've got to put away chances when we get them."

got to put away chances when we get a featurer in our cap; sain Lessuari them."

OU (now 8-2) played much the same in its Saturday match with Metropolitan State, but the results were more tolerable — a 2-1 victory. And yet, MSC wann't the team C.W. Toot (ranked 6th in the NCA Division II) was. Enyedy's game-winning goal, with Paul Phillips and Stewart assisting, came with just 47 seconds [lef. Stewart scored OU's (first goal on a penalty kick.

The chances were there. Ou outshot MSC 19-8 and C.W. Post 10-7.

OU also had more corner kicks.

Parsons isn't panicking, though.

No major shake-ups are planned. "I don't want to change our lineup right now," he said. "We've just got to work through this."

C.W. POST advanced to meet OU by edging Lock Haven 1-0 Saturday. Guy Azouri scored the game's only goal, assisted by Posillico 12 minutes before balltime. Posillico's play earned him the offensive player of the fournament wawrd. OU? Raul Delgado was named the top defensive player, and Craig Lammering of MSC got the best keeper awart. The tournament victory was a definite boost to Post, 1-17 Mis is a feather in our cap," said LeSneur. He might have more trouble making his team believe 1, towever.
