

Detroit County Day plans open house for prospective students

Detroit County Day will hold an open house for prospective students and their families at its middle grades six to eight and upper grades nine to 12 schools 2-4 p.m. today, Nov. 13.

Both schools are on the 13 Mile Laber Road campus in Beverly Hills.

Students and parents will welcome guests and take them on guided ed tours to depict the school in action. The tours will include a look at students rehearsing their upcoming musical review "Sing for our Super" working on experiments in the science labs and demonstrating how computers are used in each subject area. Headmaster Jerry Hansen and the faculty will be on hand to answer questions. Refreshments will be served in the library.

For more information on the open house, call Elizabeth Streeter at the school, 646-7717.

Detroit County Day is an independent college-preparatory school offering a pre-kindergarten through 12th-grade program for girls and boys. The school, on three campuses in the Birmingham-Bloomfield area, draws students from throughout southeastern Michigan and Canada.
