Taking note(s)

Twinkling lights and voices raised in song are part of the traditional holiday mood in Birmingham. It all gets under way Friday, Dec. 2, when the annual tree lighting ceremony and family singalong takes place at 7:30 p.m. in front of the Municipal Building. After that, various groups have volunteered to make music throughout Birmingham during the holiday season. Shown here is a student choir in front of the city hall in a recent observance. This year, over 40 groups will participate in the special feature.
