

An especially thoughtful addition to a gift of food is a personal memento. Fill a pottery mug with imported coffee beans for friends who like to grind their own. Pack a toy Porsche with a selection of nuts for an automobile enthusiast . . . an engagement calendar with a box of home-baked cookies for a busy executive.

Edible treats, ranging from smoked salmon and wine to gourmet fruit and cheese, are a great way to spread holiday cheer. Or if you're one of the few people who still has time to prepare homemade goodies, your friends will like nothing better than a treat from your kitchen.

lish muffins and jams with a selection of teas or an unusual coffee. If the budget allows, include an elegant tray or a delicate teapot.

• MAKE IT YOURSELF:

If you're one of the few people who still has time to prepare homemade goodies, your friends will like nothing better than a treat from your kitchen.

What is your specialty? A tasty casserole? Tamales? Sweet rolls? How about your own special salad dressing? Start a tradition this Christmas. Here are two suggestions for getting started:

SHRIMP PATE

2 pounds of shrimp, cooked, shelled and deveined

3 tablespoons drained capers
2 green onions, chopped
1/2 cup soft butter
1/2 cup heavy cream
2 teaspoons Pernod
Salt and pepper
Chopped parsley
Yields one quart.
Combine shrimp, capers, onions, butter, cream and Pernod in a food processor and puree until smooth. Season to taste with salt and pepper.

Pack mixture into a decorative crock and sprinkle with chopped parsley. Cover and chill. Wrap with a
