That's Entertainment

First graders from St. Fabian School entertain senior citizens at the social hall at St. Fabian Church in Farmington Hills Friday. The theme of the annual senior citizen mass and brunch centered on Veterans Day.

At the crafts show

Cindy McComb and Robin Renton model their own hand painted and decorated sweatshirts that will be up for sale from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 3 in Farmington High School. They are two of 70 artisans that will show and sell their work in Farmington Area Community Women's 14th annual Arts & Crafts Show. Admission is free.

Band cited among America's best

Paul K and the Weathermen has been named one of the 10 best undiscovered bands in America in the CMJ (College Music Journal) Music Marathon competition. The Journal, formerly known as College Media Journal, acts as a showcase for new bands in the country flushed out from colleges and radio stations.

The band's leader, Paul Kopasz, is the son of Millie and Kope Kopasz of Farmington and attended Flanders Elementary, Power Middle School, Catholic Central High School while he lived here, then graduated from University of Kentucky.

He has written the words and music to an estimated 600 songs, and one of them called "My Kalle" was the song played to help Paul K and the Weathermen get named into the top 10 of America's best this year.

The winning bands and their select numbers have been recorded by RCA for an album and on cassette called "10 of a Kind."

Paul K and the Weathermen have previously recorded two albums. Kopasz is now a resident of Lexington, Ky.
