

Raiders routed

Others might see the score of Thursday's Plymouth Salem-North Farmington wrestling meet and figure either Salem has a powerhouse or North is down this year.

Salem coach Ron Kreuger thinks the truth is somewhere between.

Final result was all Rocks, 51-21. They won nine of 13 weight classes, eight on pins. The victory was their sixth in seven duals.

And yet, Kreuger was unconvinced. "North Farmington's got a nice team," the Salem coach said. "It's going to be the big (Oakland) county tournament this weekend, so he rested a lot of starters for that. They're a lot better team than we met tonight."

"(North's) Dick Cook is a good coach. I'm not jumping up and down saying we beat them up, because they were missing a lot of starters."

Salem won six of the first seven matches, five on pins. At 103-pounds, Matt Kontinski nailed North's Jeremy May in 1:10 to get the Rocks started. Next was Craig Richardson at 112, who pinned Scott Buchleizer in :35.

THE RAIDERS got on the board with Jack Beall's 8-3 win over Ken Stapa at 119. But three falls and a decision, all favoring Salem, followed: Julian Sell in 3:24 over Brian Watny at 125; Mike Stumate, 7-6 over Lucian Van Cleave at 130; Ron Miller in 1:25 over Adam Foreman at 135; and Ed Barlage in 4:52 over Adam Look at 140.

North broke the string on V.J. Maul's forfeit victory at 145. The Rocks then collected three more falls: Pete Israel in 4:42 over Gary Evangelista at 152; Steve Burlison in 4:08 over Rob Jamrog at 160; and Brian Burlison in 1:45 over Chris Survio at 171.

The Raiders won the last two weight classes, both on falls. Neal Blidman pinned Anthony Perkins in 2:39 at 189, and Zalm Cunnama won in :17 over Scott Breighaupt at heavyweight.

Last Tuesday, Salem routed Northville 54-18 at Northville. The Rocks won 10 weight classes and had eight falls.

STEVENSON 45, FARMINGTON 20: The Falcons dipped to 9-3 with Thursday's home loss to Livonia Stevenson (1-1).

The Spartans collected nine wins in the meet, including two voids and three pins.

Farmington winners were: Joe Goudesme (119), 8-4 over Tony Sierra; Brian Link (125) on a pin; 6-0 over Lucian Van Cleave at 130; Ron Miller in 1:25 over Adam Foreman at 135; and Ed Barlage in 4:52 over Adam Look at 140.

Hawks prey on North

Although Harrison is not quite in sync with its outside shooting, the Hawks did manage to hit six from three-point land.

Rebounding has also been a concern for Teachman.

"IT GOT A little scary out there when Eric Carlson (North's 6-6 junior center) started to control the game at both ends on the boards," Teachman added. "In practice we've given up on our defensive rebounding because we wanted to put our offense in first."

While North had its moments on the boards, the Raiders, who dipped to 1-3, had very little else to brag about.

"Maybe what they need is a game or two with Hoffman to get back into the flow," Teachman said. "Tonight he had great quickness for showing a bad ankle. He made some good penetration moves."

Negoshian realizes its going to take time to readjust.

"It was like our first game with Matt back," he said. "We knew we'd be depending on him a lot and maybe he tried to do too much. And maybe he can't do the other things that he's capable of until he's completely healthy."

North has two more games before the holiday break, but the important one is Thursday when the Raiders travel to much-improved Livonia Stevenson for a Lakes Division battle.

"OUR NO. 1 GOAL as defending champs is that we want to get into the playoffs," Negoshian said. "We have 10 division games and those are the most important to get into the playoffs."

And the way Harrison is playing these days, making the playoffs is a sure bet. The Hawks are shooting for something better, most logically a Western Division crown.

And if the Hawks ultimately achieve that goal, they won't be fooling anybody.

Area's top stars are in backcourt

(seven). A second-team All-Observer choice in '87, Barnett also averaged six assists and three steals per game.

Barnett's season ended prematurely, when she broke her left ankle in a Class A regional semifinal win over Detroit Cooley. She missed the regional title game against Taylor Center and a Class A quarterfinal matchup against eventual state-champion Birmingham Marfan.

The rest of Ladywood's players had to pick up their game a notch with Barnett only able to watch from the sidelines.

"She was an excellent captain," Ladywood coach Ken Bechard said. "Even when she injured her ankle she wouldn't let the team keep down. She was an excellent penetrator, she liked to drive and is able to mix it up. She's a tremendous defensive player, and she controlled the boards the whole season."

Barnett is interested in playing college basketball, probably at a southern school where she can study marine biology, Bechard said.

DAWN WARNER, Livonia Franklin: Get used to reading about this talented freshman.

The 5-foot-6 guard led Franklin in scoring (18.3), three-pointers (18), field goal percentage (40.5), steals (4.0) and assists (2.5).

Warner narrowly missed being named first-team All-WLAA, but was selected to the Western Division team. She scored a career-high 32 points in leading Franklin to a district title victory over Westland John Glenn. The Patriots were one of the area's surprise teams, finishing the season at 10-7.

"She's one of those dedicated gym rats," Franklin coach Dan Freeman said. "If you see her in the summer she'll be sitting there with a basketball in her hand."

"For a freshman she has an awful lot of game savvy. When it comes to pressure time she wants the ball — that's unusual for a freshman to be so confident in her game."

KIM FALKOWSKI, Garden City: A hard worker and excellent student, the 5-9 senior center carried the Cougars, coached by Marshall Henry.

When Falkowski graduates next June, she'll take with her seven Garden City offensive records. Among those standards are points (347), rebounds (294) and free throws made (129).

This year Falkowski averaged 15.5 points (also a season record) and 12.8 rebounds. She made 64.2 percent of her free throws. She is a 3.6 student, compiling a 4.2 average during one fall marking period.

Falkowski wants to play collegiately, probably at the Division II level.

"She's one of the fiercest rebounders in the area and the best rebounder I've ever had," Henry said. "I think she can play small forward in Division II. In tennis shoes she's 5-9 or 5-10 and she consistently outbounced the taller than her. She's an unselfish player with excellent low-post techniques."

MAYA LEWIS, Wayne Memorial: The 5-8 junior guard picked up her game a notch near the end of Wayne's 17-4 season. She finished the campaign with an 11-point average and also dished out four assists.

She's a 3.0 student and coach Gary Schwan expects even better things out of Lewis next fall.

"She has a big-league jumper," Schwan said. "She's a fine kid and really loves the game of basketball. How hard she works from now to the next season will show how good she is. Toward the end of the season, in our bigger games, she was our best player."

Lewis played her best games against Wolverine League powers Trenton and Dearborn Fordson.

A number of lottery game players have recently asked about televised drawings, and why some stations have changed. This column answers those questions.

Q: What stations are now in the network?

A: The eight stations include WDIV-TV Channel 4 in Detroit; WHIQ-TV Channel 41 in Battle Creek; WEYI-TV Channel 25 in Flint; WZZM-TV Channel 13 in Grand Rapids; WILX-TV Channel 10 in Lansing and Jackson; WLCI-TV Channel 8 in Marquette; WGTQ-TV Channel 8 in Sault Ste. Marie; and WCTU-TV Channel 29 in Traverse City. The network stations also feed some local cable outlets.

Q: Are the drawings shown live?

A: Yes. Originating at 7:30 p.m. each night in studios of WDIV-TV in Detroit, the drawings are shown live over all other stations via a satellite link.

Q: Which drawings are shown?

A: The Daily 3 game drawings are shown and the winning Daily 4 game number announced Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday nights. The Super Lotto drawings are shown on Wednesday and Saturdays include announcement of both Daily game winning numbers.

Q: Do the same stations show half-hour lottery specials when they occur?

A: Yes. These generally start at 7:30 on Saturday night and include live drawings of both Daily games and Super Lotto.

Q: When did the network start?

A: The network was formed in 1984 just prior to the start of Lotto game play.

Q: Why are some stations different now?

A: The lottery recently asked TV stations throughout Michigan to submit bids for a new network contract in order to provide the best possible coverage for players at the lowest cost. As a result, some changes were made.

Q: Are drawings also now being aired by radio stations?

A: As a service to players not always able to watch the drawings on television, the Lottery has also formed a statewide network of radio stations to carry the live drawings.

Q: Which stations are included?

A: Network radio stations include WJZ-FM in Cadillac; WJLW-FM in Detroit; WZZM-FM in Flint; WJAF-FM in Grand Rapids; WJLW-FM in Ironwood; WJEM-FM in Jackson; Lansing; WJZD-FM in Kalamazoo; WJZL-FM in Marquette; and WJZS-FM in Saginaw/Bay City.

For submitting the question leading to this column, Richard Barber and Gaylord will receive 50 tickets for the instant lottery game, "Doubling Dollars."

If you have a question not yet covered in these monthly columns, send it to "Winners Circle," Michigan Lottery, P.O. Box 30077, Lansing, MI 48909.
