

Buildings win masonry design awards

Among the buildings and architects who won awards from the Masonry Institute of Michigan were the New Life Center of Southfield by Gunn Levine Associates of Detroit, left, and Domino's Pizza World Headquarters of Ann Arbor by Gunnar Birkerts and Associates of Birmingham. Jury chairman Clarence Huettenrath, AIA/FCST, said of the New Life Center/Regional Perinatology Facility by Providence Hospital: "A meticulously designed harmony of lateral and curvilinear massing, this structure epitomizes masonry's versatility." Of Domino's headquarters, he wrote, "A straightforward, strongly integrated project using simple brick planes contrasted by the standing-rib metal roofs. It reflects the lasting influence of Wright's Prairie School Architecture in today's design field. Bold masonry carefully orchestrated."
