

What a doll

"Prince of Hearts," a doll made by Ingrid Dijkers, is part of a Valentine's Day show at Ariana Gallery, 386 E. Maple, Birmingham. Dijkers' dolls with medieval costumes and Pan-like faces are charming, fantasy creatures. Others in the show are heart pillows by Lori Bolt and hand painted purses by Victoria Rubinstein.

Dance workshops set for weekend

Center for Creative Studies-Institute of Music and Dance is offering partnering workshops on Saturday and Sunday. The workshop in ballet pas de deux will be 3-4 p.m. Saturday and the character and character partnering will be 1-2:30 p.m. Sunday. They will be held at IMD-North in the International School, 13 Mile and Evergreen, Southfield. The fee for each class is $10 or $15 for both. To register, call CCS-IMD at 831-2870.

The instructor, Thomas Camm, received his ballet training in Boston from David Schelds of the Royal Ballet of London. Camm was also a scholarship student at the School of American Ballet in New York City.

Miniature classes start

Winter classes at Miniature Makers' Workshop, 4515 N. Woodward, Royal Oak, begin the last week of February and continue through May. Eight new classes are offered as well as 11 others of interest to the miniature artist. Registration is now in progress.

Some of the new offerings include "Carousell Horse" with Instructor Judy Shillhaas. In this class the student will learn to hand carve the carousel horse. This is the first in a series of 1/12 inch scale reproduction carousel animals. "Tiny Dolls," a one-day workshop taught by Iris Longo, is new. These dolls are about an inch high and are dressed as twins.

A class with a different approach is "Working with Fimo," instructed by Bettie Robinson. Students will learn techniques in blending and modeling objects with Fimo, a colored clay product that can be baked in a home oven to harden. Jewelry made from Fimo is a popular item.

An open workshop, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Fridays is available to all past and present students. No instruction is included, but there's always someone to lend a helping hand.

Workshop carries a complete line of miniature rooms, dollhouses, furniture and appliances for the doll-yourself miniature artist. Hours are 10 to 5, Monday-Saturday. The shop is on Woodward two blocks south of 14 Mile, Royal Oak.
