

E. Kentwood wins S'craft showdown

By David Emerson
staff writer

A high school volleyball match made in heaven.
Well, not quite, but the finals of Saturday's the Schoolcraft College pitted the state's top two ranked teams in Class A.
And the No. 1 spot this week belongs to East Kentwood, which nullified to beat the previous top dog, Temperance-Bedford, in three games, 12-15, 15-14, 15-8. (See statistical summary.)
Thirty schools, including 12 from Observant, started pool play action at 9 a.m. The extravaganza did not finish until nearly 1:30 hours later.
"You never mind going home late because that means you're in it," said East Kentwood coach Bud Cole. "Either team can have won this match. It just depends which side the ball falls on that particular day. The kids came back well. When they were behind they showed a lot of courage."
Bedford (44-4) had beaten East Kentwood (51-4) earlier in the season at the Portage Invitational. The two teams had also split.
STARTING ONLY one senior, it appears that East Kentwood can only get better.
The Falcons eliminated Livonia Stevenson (15-4, 15-1) in the quarterfinals and Detroit Henry Ford (15-4, 15-8) in the semifinals.
Leading the way for East Kentwood were juniors Amy Westhouse and Kerri Kulper, along with Jane Belanger, one of the top setters in the state.
"We did some things better this time against Bedford," said Cole, whose team finished second in the state tourney in 1983. "We blocked and passed well, because if you don't, you'll be out of it real early."

"We needed this. The kids are really fired up."
The tournament's most surprising team was Wayne Memorial, which reached the semifinals before losing to Bedford, 15-8, 15-13.
Wayne qualified for the semifinals by defeating Livonia Churchill for the second time this season, 15-13, 8-15, 15-12.
"I'm very pleased. This was fantastic," said Wayne coach Ann Kohnly. "We had just hoped to get out of our pool and make a good showing against a big team. We did everything I hoped for... and more for a team not ranked."
WAYNE, currently unbeaten in the Wolverine A League and 26-0 overall, was sparked by junior Tiffany Goodlow, who made several key blocks against Churchill, and senior setter Nicole Fisher, who was a standout against Bedford.
"We blocked well and served well. That was the key," Kohnly said. "Tiffany is starting to slam the ball home and Fisher was very good today."
Defending state Class A and Schoolcraft champion Livonia Ladywood lost a tough three-game match to Bedford in the quarterfinals, 14-16, 15-11, 15-13.
The Blazers played without outside hitter Peggy Knittel, who sat out the tourney with a knee injury.
"She (Knittel) gives us a varied attack and gives us the consistency," said Ladywood coach Tom Tractors, whose team is 31-4 overall. "We missed her passing, but we did all right considering she was out."
Today our passing was not strong."
But the Blazers' Stacey Girard was a model of consistency, especially with her passing and defensive play. Trammie Stacey Girard, who recently committed to Western Michigan University, was the Blazers' top hitter.

CHURCHILL may have run out of gas against Wayne after surviving a tough pool, which included the likes of Madison Heights Bishop Foley, Farmington Hills Mercy, North Farmington and Dearborn Edsel Ford.
The Chargers, led by the all-around play of Jenny Sproul and Christy Clark, finished 7-1 in pool play.
"It was by far the most difficult pool," said Churchill coach Mike Hughes. "We got pooped out the last game against Wayne and couldn't pass the ball, but the kids played very well all day and I was pleased."
"It was a good experience. We need to play the tough teams."
Livonia Stevenson, which has struggled most of the season with a young team joined Bedford in the quarterfinals as the tournament's wild card team.
Stevenson tied Henry Ford for the best record on Court 3, while Bedford and Harper Woods Regina tied on Court V — all sporting 7-1 records.
