

Cunmulaj among 'A' best

"(Cunmulaj) put him on his back twice," Cook said. "That's probably the first time anybody has done that all year."

"There aren't too many who pin two guys in the state meet," he added.

Cunmulaj, who opened with back-to-back pins over regional champ Cleveland Moore of Lansing (2:19) and Nadelick (3:08), moved into the consolation final where he beat Rimmer 13-4.

Cunmulaj dominated his bigger opponent from start to finish and, in the process, gained some satisfaction after having to withdraw from the consolation final at the regional tournament the previous week. Rimmer won that one on an injury default after Cunmulaj stretched knee ligaments.

CUNMULAJ JUMPED in front 4-1 in the first period and, following a second-period takedown, 6-3 at the end of two. Rimmer tried to throw Cunmulaj in the third period, but Cunmulaj used his strength to avoid the takedown and score a reversal. He was on the verge of pinning Rimmer when the match ended.

'It doesn't surprise me that (Zaim Cunmulaj) came back and beat that Bedford kid that bad . . . He's a real good wrestler.'

— Lee Krueger
CC wrestling champ

"I knew he'd be tough, and I thought it would be a close match," Cunmulaj said. "When I got the points right away, I just took control. I knew I had it wrapped up."

Like his CC rival, Cunmulaj, despite his 6-foot-1 frame and 225 pounds, is one of the smaller heavyweights who uses his quickness and skill against bigger opponents.

"It doesn't surprise me that he came back and beat that Bedford kid that bad," Krueger said. "Zaim is more my style. He snoots; he's quick. He's a real good wrestler."

Ironically, if Cunmulaj hadn't pulled out of the regional consolation final, a possible third-place finish there would have put him in the bracket opposite Krueger at state. Thus, he might have had second place instead of third, assuming Cunmulaj would have defeated Krueger in the final as opposed to the semis.

"I'm pleased with third," Cunmulaj said. "I had a good season. It's nice ending with a win."

"I THINK I could have gotten second in the other bracket. Hopefully, I can be a national champion in college."

After winning four of five matches at state, Cunmulaj finished his senior year with a 35-5 record. He had more than 90 pins in his career and owns the school record for career victories, having broken Craig Gow's 15-year-old mark.

"I owe a lot to my coaches," Cunmulaj said. "Coach Cook worked out with me all week, and he made sure I did these exercises and drove to strengthen my knee. I owe 100 percent to him."

Shamrocks whip EDHS

Shamrocks tangled with Shamrocks, but there was no confusing the two wrestling teams Wednesday night.

The bout-by-bout proceedings soon separated the contender from the pretender in the Class A quarterfinal match at Harper Woods Notre Dame High School.

Defending champion Redford Catholic Central advanced to the Final Four a second straight year with a 47-14 victory over underdog East Detroit.

The Shamrocks — of the CC variety — will meet Lake Orion in the state semifinals at 8:30 p.m. Friday in Battle Creek's Kellogg Arena.

CC takes a 19-4 record into the match: the Dragons, who whipped Howell 42-13 on Wednesday, a 24-2 mark. The final will be at 5:30 p.m. Saturday.

"You don't have this kind of opportunity often to wrestle somebody the caliber of CC," said ED coach Andy Della, adding his team had eight sophomores in the lineup. "Hopefully, this will make us more experienced for next year."

wrestling

CC coach Mike Rodriguez knows the competition will get a lot tougher now that the field has been pared to four teams.

"It's going to be a knock down, drag out war," he said. "I know this Lake Orion team has been waiting for us."

"These (CC) kids are coming off a high after the individuals, and it's hard for them to be as intense as they were a week ago. But, if we don't stay intense, we're going to come back second best."

CC had three individual state champions and two runners-up, and when their weights were called Wednesday the Shamrocks began to leave ED in their wake.

Matt Helm (130) pinned Billy Saylor in 5:01, but CC voided to state placer George Pillar at 135. That kept the teams tied at 14; however, CC won the next seven bouts.

In the next three involving a trio of CC's best, Jay Helm (140) beat Jeff Jackson on a technical fall

(3:32). Brian Tully (145) defeated Derek Hawling 15-2, and Chris Rodriguez (152) pinned Joe Lumbie (5:12).

Three of CC's less-heralded matmen boosted the score to 41-14. Pat Moylan (160) edged Brian Ratz 9-8; Sean Ziadhe (171) held on to beat Chris Harwood 11-10, and Lou Yeager (189) pinned Jason Varnas (3:17).

Lee Krueger, the Class A heavyweight champ, finished with the fastest pin of the night in 1:01. He lifted the shorter, heavier Aaron Hamden into the air with no apparent difficulty and put him down with the same ease for the pin.

"We've got five kids who are just very tough to beat," Rodriguez said. "If we lose any one of those five in a match, we're in trouble."

Wednesday saw the return of Mike Gentile at 125. He was injured in the individual district and hadn't wrestled since. But he and Rusty Fowler (103) had CC's other wins with a technical fall (8:24) and 15-6 decision, respectively.

"This is his state championship," Rodriguez said. "I thought it would be more beneficial to him and the team to have him down with this. He'll still get a scholarship, too."

Area matmen rally to win finales

By Dan O'Meara
staff writer

Most wrestlers who lose their first match in the state tournament usually don't place.

Livensia Stevenson's Kort Will and Westland John Glenn's Derek Tharp refused to give up and followed the same path to success in the Class A finals Saturday at Battle Creek's Kellogg Arena.

Along with Tharp's teammate Rob Matigian, the Observerland trio won their final matches and finished fifth in the state at their respective weights.

Will (152) won three straight bouts in the consolation bracket before losing to Redford Catholic Central's Chris Rodriguez and facing Brian Wingate of Temperance Bedford for fifth place.

Will, who finished his career with 105 wins, was losing 5-4 late in overtime when he scored a takedown and three back points to pull it out to a 9-5 decision.

"I WAS GETTING tired near the end of the match when he took me down," Will said. "I looked over at the clock and saw I had 26 seconds left in my high school career."

"I sucked it all up and hit a stand-up move as hard as I could. Nothing was going to hold me down."

"I'm real happy," he said. "My biggest goal was to place at state, and I did that."

Tharp also had to fight a come-back battle after losing a criteria decision to Holt's Ryan Ammon in his first match Friday. He won his next three before dropping a 6-3 decision in the consolation semis.

"It was either I won or I didn't place," Tharp said. "With this being my senior season, I wasn't going to leave it end like that."

"It was hard. I got about 30 minutes between each match. I just had to use that time to get my mind straight."

THARP WAS losing 6-5 to Sam Wakefield of Muskegon Mont Shores when time running out in overtime. In the last 10 seconds, he scored a two-point reversal to win the match.

"I wanted fifth place; I wanted to end the season with a win," Tharp said. "It was now or never. I knew I had to hit something."

Matigian posted a 6-1 victory over Bay City Western's Mike Wenz in the contest for fifth place, but it was a bitter-sweet win for the Glen center, who fell into the finals with a 42-0 record and had his sights set on first place.

"Everything went my way all year," Matigian said. "I guess everything comes to an end sometime."

"I was ranked second and took fifth. There's no shame in your place. I just expected to do better."

Considering the close scores in the matches he lost, Matigian was not far from being first or second, however.

He dropped a 7-6 decision to eventual runner-up John Shefferly of Grosse Pointe North in the semis and a criteria decision to Birmingham Brother Rile's Chris Snooks in the consolation bracket.
