

Patricia Underwood's most romantic look for spring and summer — her fine Paglina strawa draped with gossamer silk chiffon. Available in a summer rainbow of colors and in over 10 different styles. At the left, "Plantation," $360; at the right, "Promenade," $360.

A cotton knit "button band" lightens and brightens the warm weather scene. Available in assorted colors. About $40.

Hats

Fashion flips its lid

A pin-striped cloche in fine Paglina straw, works with brim turned up or down.

Faux taffeta rain hats needn't be saved for a rainy day — they shine in the sun, too. They are water-resistant, stain-proof and crush-proof. At the left is the T.S. Elliot model, with "boat hat" at the right. Both from the Patricia Underwood, Too collection.

For a glamorous look on the beach or anywhere else a sun screen is needed, Pat Underwood "beachies" come in hefty natural-colored straw trimmed with brightly colored bands of silk. At the left, "large booster" with its companion, "lampshade."
