

Cantata's finale Saturday

Pamela Smith

Frederick Bellinger

Cantata Academy will present the grand finale of the 1988-89 subscription series on at 8 p.m. Saturday in the Berkley High School Auditorium. The concert, entitled "Cantata Plus," will close the group's 28th Season.

Why "Cantata Plus?" The added attraction is dramatic contralto Pamela Smith as soloist. A Detroit native, Smith debuted with the Metropolitan Opera as Scherzette in Wagner's "Die Walkure."

For Cantata's concert, she'll remove horns and breastplate to sing several spirituals, songs, folk tunes and a Congolese-style Mass.

She was recently the soloist for the 45th annual Azalia Hackley Memorial Concert at the Detroit Public Library and has appeared in concerts and operas throughout the United States, Europe and Africa. In addition to her achievements on stage, she has received international acclaim as a nightclub and theater performer and as a recording artist.

Her repertoire ranges from grand opera and prison songs to pop. She has appeared at Carnegie Hall with Pete Seeger and Peter, Paul and Mary and has toured as soloist with the Norman Luboff Choir.

Smith attended Cass Technical High School and Wayne State University and holds a bachelor's in music from the University of Michigan. She is a former member of Cantata Academy.

Frederick Bellinger, another Cass Tech grad is music director and conductor. He has been associated with Cantata in some capacity for 25 years. He started as a tenor, often as a soloist, and took the baton in 1971.

Under his guidance, Cantata has grown in audience recognition and in musicality, as well as in sheer numbers. There are now more than 50 singers. He conducts everything from Bach to boogie. His mixed group of singers from all walks of life is perhaps best known for spirituals. He will lead Cantata's Eight European Tour this summer for 14 performances in Germany, Austria, Poland and Czechoslovakia.

Because of Bellinger's outstanding long-term contributions to the greater Detroit musical community, he will be honored at the concert with a proclamation from Mayor Coleman Young.

The first part of the program opens with Ralph Vaughan Williams' "In Windsor Forest," a cantata lifted from his opera "Sir John in Love." The libretto is based on Shakespeare's bawdy farce, "Falstaff."

The second work to be performed is the Missa Luba, a mass written by Guido Bazza, a Belgian missionary who taught in the Belgian Congo. The country, now independent Zaire, is located on the Atlantic Coast in central Africa. The music is strongly Congolese and will be accompanied by authentic drums and other African percussion instruments. The extensive, tenor solo will be performed by Pamela Smith. The other pieces include several spirituals such as "Hallelujah, King Jesus" and "Precious Lord" and two folk ballads arranged by Pete Seeger, "We Shall Overcome" and "Ain't You Got A Right?" It is also likely that some of Cantata's signature encore pieces will be performed.

The concert is sponsored by the Michigan Council for the Arts, and corporate sponsors Detroit Edison, Ford Motor Company, Michigan National Bank, and General Motors Corporation. Tickets $10 are available at the door. The Berkley High School Auditorium is on Catalpa (11 1/2 Mile) just east of Coolidge. For information, call 546-0420.

Coffee and tea will be served from silver service to those waiting for the tour. Anyone may visit the gardens and boutique before or after the house tour. A $5.50 fee includes the tour and garden visit.

Luncheon, $6, will be served on the terrace at 12:15 p.m. Reservations must be made by 4 p.m. the Tuesday before. Luncheons are available to tour guests only. Cranbrook House and Gardens are at 380 Lone Pine, Bloomfield Hills.

For reservations and information, call 645-5149.

Try Thursdays at Cranbrook
