11, 210), a transfer from Livonia Franklin, could see time there, too. At outside linebacker, the Raiders will start juniors Todd Pawlowski (6-4, 210) and Ron Sukkas (6-11, 180), but Zeno, who had 40 solo tackles and 30 assists, remains the heart of the defense.

"He just loves to hit," O'Leary said. "He's a typical North Farmington linebacker. We've always been blessed with inside linebackers that like to hit people."

Offensively, North has a bonafide pass receiving threat in White, who caught 33 passes for 425 yards and three touchdowns. He also returned a pair of punts for TDs.

"He's probably the best (athlete) I've ever coached, and that includes (Michigan State running back Scott) Selzer," O'Leary said. "He can do so much and does it so naturally."

"WE'VE GOT TO get the football to him. I don't care how we do it. We've got to get it to him 10 to 12 times a game."

But the person throwing the ball to him last year, Mike Filipovich, is gone. The Raiders have to break in a new quarterback, and that will be senior Jon Kraus (5-10, 160), who was Filipovich's understudy last year.

Kraus isn't the same kind of strong, drop-back passer that Filipovich was, but he offers North more in the way of quickness and running ability.

"Offensively, we're going to have to work real hard to move the football . . . If we can throw the ball with any success, we'll be pretty good on offense. We have good receivers. We just have to get the ball to them."

— Jim O'Leary
North Farmington football coach

With Kraus and Slinas in the backfield, O'Leary expects to have more speed. Delak, a solid blocker, returns at upback and might carry the ball more this year. Slinas has big shoes to fill since he replaces all-Observer back Joe Sturtz, who was rushed for 1,001 yards and 14 touchdowns.

"He has great moves and better than average speed," O'Leary said. "Joe was a power runner. We'll probably be able to get outside more, which we didn't do much last year. We probably had no more than two runs of 30 yards or more, and Bart had one of them."

THE ALL-NEW line consists of center Jerry Jehl (5-9, 160), guards Zeno and Jamrog and tackles Jason Hamill (6-0, 195) and Anders. Hamill played at North two years ago before his family moved to Illinois. He, Zeno and Kraus will serve as tri-captains.

"So far they've looked pretty good," O'Leary said. "We may be ahead of last year at this time. We're not huge but we're not small. But we're certainly not as big as most teams."

Either senior Kris Matusiewicz (6-0, 155) or Pawlowski will be the tight end, and either Low or Mummert will play swingback, though Mummert, the fullback on the JV team, is injured.

"Offensively, we're going to have to work real hard to move the football," O'Leary said. "I don't think we have the offense to go 90 yards. We'll have to count on the defense a lot."

"If we can throw the ball with any success, we'll be pretty good on offense. We have good receivers. We just have to get the ball to them."

The kicking game is sound with ex-soccer player Mike Cowen doing the placekicking and punting, according to O'Leary. Cowen averages in the high 30s as a punter and was fifth at the Kent State kicking camp this summer.

The best part, O'Leary said, is Cowen doesn't play another position. In their eighth game, the Raiders missed an extra point late in the contest and lost 13-12 to Livonia Franklin on a muddy field. The kicker was a regular player and was exhausted, O'Leary said. If North had won that game, it would have qualified for the Class A playoffs.

"If this team comes together and things fall, we could have a real good team," O'Leary said. "It doesn't mean we're going to do any better than 7-2. I still think (Westland John Glenn and Plymouth Salem are the teams to beat in the Lakes Division) until somebody proves me wrong."

Shamrocks contemplate offensive switch

By Brad Emons
staff writer

Tom Mach is going through his own personal tug-of-war.

The Redford Catholic Central High football coach is torn between using his familiar ball-control style offensive attack, but is tempted to implement a more wide-open passing game.

Last year the Shamrocks went unbeaten in 12 games before losing the state Class A championship game to Tawasie City at the Pontiac Silverdome (24-14).

Mach, 101-28 in 13 seasons with the Shamrocks, finds himself saddled with a speedy group that could be his most explosive team ever. "I think we have some good backs and receivers," he said. "But right now I'm caught between if we're going to run or we're going to pass. We have the capabilities of doing both."

The big question will be answered when Mach makes his decision about who will succeed All-Observer and All-Catholic League quarterback Scott Haunicher, who was a two-year starter. (He passed for 1,245 yards last year.)

Two juniors, 6-1, 180-pound Jason Cjrr, and 5-10, 170-pound Jack Davidson are battling for the starting job with a leg up on Joel Hussat. Hussat is the better passer, while Davidson is better runner, according to Mach.

"THERE'S A POSSIBILITY we'll use two, but I'd like to settle on one," said the CC coach. "I'm not afraid to use either at this time of the season. I'll make my decision based on how practice goes along."

Redford CC traveled last Wednesday to scrimmage Monroe, but Carr and Davidson came out virtually even.

"They both did some positive

football

things and then some things that were not as positive," said the CC coach. "But it's a good situation to be in because both are good prospects."

Mach's situation is even better at tailback with the return of senior Dave Owens (5-7, 165) and junior Brian Chaney (6-1, 180) as his backup.

As a junior, Owens gained 716 yards and could double that number this season. (His brother Fred, who graduated from Redford Bishop Borgess High, is a running back at the University of Wisconsin.)

"He's a stronger and we expect him to break a few more tackles," Mach said of Owens. "With a whole year's experience, he should be able to read holes better. He'll be a much-improved back."

CONTESTING AT fullback is Jon

Barbara (6-1, 195), noted for his blocking, and speedy Arshon Stewart (5-11, 176), a nose guard threat.

The split ends will be junior Mike Bell (6-1, 183) and senior Dave Baucus (6-2, 175). The flankers include returnee Mike Mathis (6-1, 190), a deep threat, along with Dan Bradley (5-9, 175) and Erik Burton (6-2, 175) — all seniors.

Last year we were pretty good at the skill positions," Mach said. "This year we have more speed, but less experience."

Three players are in the running at tight end, led by senior Tim Jackson (6-1, 180), junior Mike Grimes (6-4, 210) and junior Leo Kowalyk (6-1, 185).

The offensive line boasts a pair of outstanding returnees in tackle Ryan Bell (6-3, 245) and guard Chris Czerula (5-9, 205).

Bell, a second-team All-Observer pick, is a major college prospect who will go both ways.

"Right now he's our best lineman," Mach said.

Junior Gary Gurgold (6-2, 240) and senior Dave Taylor (6-1, 245) are vying at the other tackle slot. Joe Laskowski (6-0, 230) will be at the other guard, with either Don Janda (6-0, 216) or Dorie Hicks (5-10, 210), both seniors, at center.

"OUR PASS BLOCKING needs improvement, but I saw some good signs at our scrimmage," said the CC coach. "We scored more points last year than we had in the past. Our goal will be to score 21 points per game. With 21 points, you should be able to win a high school game."

"I think they'll develop into a fine unit," for the Shamrocks has been the defense, which is coordinated by long-time Mach assistant Rick Coratti. Last year CC allowed only seven points and 170 yards per game.

Kowalyk returns at defensive end with Bell, backed by Laskowski, at one tackle.

Junior Rob Sylvester (6-2, 220) will contest Taylor at other tackle, with senior Terry Licht (5-7, 197) replacing all-stater Lee Krueger (University of Wisconsin) at nose guard. Jackson will be the other defensive end.

Junior Karl Kowalyk will be at one linebacker, with senior Rich Walsh (6-0, 190) battling Barbara at the other spot.

Mathis, one of the Shamrocks' top players, leads a four-secondary, which also includes Davidson, Thomas, Chaney, Burton and Stewart.

"We look pretty good back there because we're fast," Mach said. "They can chase down a lot of people and cover a lot of mistakes."

AND MAKE no mistake about it, CC should make another serious run at the state crown.

Men, if you're about to turn 18, it's time to register with Selective Service at any U.S. Post Office.

"The big thing is that our quarterbacks must develop," Mach reiterated. "Last year Haunicher was coming in with a year's experience."

"The key on offense is development of our line, our quarterback and our fullback. We've got our running backs and receivers. We have a lot of people we can get the ball to."

Another key is the kicking game where All-Observer pick Pete Eleovic is gone.

"That was a big loss," said Mach. Sophomore Kerry Zavagnin, a redshirt from the soccer team, hopes to fill the void. He has the inside track as the extra-point and kickoff man over Pete Lombardi and Brent Jenkins. Burton, meanwhile, will be the punter.

It's quick. It's easy. And it's the law.
