

WL board expected to approve AIDS program

By Darrell Clem
Staff writer

AIDS education in the Walled Lake Consolidated School District would be expanded to all grade levels this year under a plan expected to be approved at tonight's school board meeting.

Last year, AIDS instruction, required by state law, was taught only to grades eight through 12 in Walled Lake schools, said Carl Pacacha, asstant superintendent for secondary education.

But Pacacha said school officials are ready to provide age-appropriate AIDS information to students in kindergarten through 12th grade.

"We find that elementary students have been making inquiries about AIDS," he said. "We think it's appropriate that we instruct them in this devastating disease."

Pacacha said the curriculum would become part of a larger elementary health program, "Growing Healthy," which has been in place for about a decade.

In response to the AIDS crisis, Michigan legislators in 1987 passed Public Act 185 in an effort to require schools to provide AIDS education.

Judy Johnson, a Wisconsin resident with two children enrolled in the Walled Lake school district, is a strong proponent of early childhood AIDS education.

"I think the more the children can learn about AIDS at a younger age, the better," Johnson said. "The more aware they are, the more careful they will be."

Johnson said some parents are reluctant to discuss controversial topics such as AIDS with their children. Therefore, she said, it's important for those children to learn about AIDS at school.

"Some people are afraid to talk about it," Johnson said. "But it's a problem that we have to deal with as a society. We have to talk about it."

Pacacha said the AIDS curriculum last year was introduced in grades eight through 12 in such subjects as sociology, health, American history and American government. Classroom teachers, sometimes assisted by outside professionals, taught AIDS instruction after receiving inservice training.

AIDS courses in those upper grades will be revised if the proposal presented to the school board tonight wins approval, Pacacha said. Such revisions, he added, would include information about the social impact of AIDS, laws pertaining to the disease and how employers are confronting the crisis.

"In the upper levels, you have to make the curriculum more sophisticated so that it doesn't become redundant," Pacacha said.

He said the proposed curriculum is not expected to face any stumbling blocks at tonight's school board meeting, which begins at 8 p.m. at 1960 W. West Maple.

WL school district hires principal, 40 teachers

By James Radabaugh
Staff writer

The Walled Lake Schools last week hired a principal, 40 teachers and a director for the outdoor education center.

The board of education Thursday named Suzanne Cowles, a teacher at Loon Lake Elementary School who has taught in the district for 17 years, to be the next principal at Keith Elementary.

She will assume the job in January, when Cowles' Keith principal Andrew Dale begins his responsibilities as the principal at the as-yet-unnamed elementary school being built at Halstead Road and Pontiac Trail. "She's dynamic," board president Sammy Jean Ruetenik said Tuesday.

"We interviewed a lot of out-of-district candidates, and we went with her because she knows the district, she knows the parents. We also think she was the best candidate we interviewed."

The new elementary school is expected to open in the fall of 1990. Dale, who was named principal of the school in June, will begin his new duties this winter by hiring a staff, ordering supplies and equipment and coordinating the redistricting of students who will attend the school.

The board also hired 40 full- and part-time teachers to fill the equivalent 36.5 full-time positions throughout the district, according to district spokeswoman Lois Lange.

About half of the new teachers will replace teachers who have retired or taken leave and half are new positions, Lange said.

The district added nine new classrooms this year, four at Loon Lake and five at Oakley Park Elementary. Sixteen new classrooms were added last year.

"Next year we'll hire a whole slew," Ruetenik said. "The district is growing."

The Walled Lake schools are in the middle of an expansion that is planned to include two new elementary schools and a junior high. The board also appointed Cheryl Tapp as the director of the Outdoor Education Center. Tapp has been acting director at the center, where natural science education projects for elementary students are organized, for the past year.
