The Wehrli Center motivates learning

Ellen Kuuttila and Marilyn Grable, co-owners of Wehrli Performance Training Center of Farmington Hills, 28423 Orchard Lake Road, will host Open House 3-6 p.m. Friday, Oct. 13. The center, beginning its second year, will introduce the materials used to increase all learning skills, following directions and math skills. The method has proven successful since 1969 when Kitty Wehrli began helping people of all ages learn how to learn.

reading comprehension.

Kuuttila and Grable, both certified teachers, opened the Wehrli Center because of their enthusiasm for the tremendous success ratio of Wehrli Performance Training and the obvious need of students for a second approach to learning.

For information, call the center, 489-8460.

The Wehrli Method is designed to be a second approach to school. Performance Training is a reading based program that taps into a student's natural inclination to learn. The student is provided with a carefully engineered set of stimuli that guarantees success in that period. It is these successes that become the motivation to continue.

Student confidence grows very quickly, the co-owners say.

Each student is tested initially to ascertain his reading level. An individualized program is selected giving the student multisensory practice on all levels. Reading content is used to develop the learner.

The Wehrli Method exercises all kinds of learning. Often students have no need for further tutoring in non-related subjects because they have "learned how to learn" and applied that knowledge. This includes students with learning disabilities, those who want to learn English as a second language, and college students who wish to sharpen their

Center marks 20th year

Editor's note: For 20 years the doors of The Community Center have been kept open through the work of men and women who volunteer to serve as its directors. The Farmington Observer introduces the members of the 1989 board to readers as part of the center's 20th anniversary year observance.

Gail Perrin leads an active life as a mother and professional volunteer. She is on the board of directors of The Community Center Farmington Hills, the board of directors of the Y.M.C.A. of Farmington Hills, treasurer of the American Association of University Women and president of the Embroiders Guild of Farmington Hills.

She served on the original board of directors of The Community Center and, after several years hiatus, rejoined the board two years ago. Over the years, she has chaired various fund-raisers including auctions and fashion shows. She also was president of the center's volunteer guild and organizer of the ethnic festivals.

As 30 year residents of Farmington Hills, she, her husband Kenneth and their three grown children have remained strong supporters of The Community Center and have enjoyed concerts, special events and classes offered by the center. She is currently an instructor for the center's "Crazy Quilted Sweatshirt" workshop.

Luau

Hawaiian dancers filled the grounds and Hawaiian food filled the palm tree-decorated tables for Farmington Nursing Home's end-of-the-summer party. Muumuu, grass skirts, leis and brightly colored shirts were the order of the day for 350 guests who ate flaming beef, pineapple colossus and coconut cake while being entertained by the Northbrook Presbyterian Church band.
