

OU center eager to counsel men

The "men wanted" sign is out at the Adult Career Counseling Center at Oakland University.

The facility is open free to Michigan residents who need career or personal counseling. OU officials said.

The officials said they are eager to serve more male clients. In 1988-1989, they served 615 Michigan residents and of those, 455 were women. The general range for all clients has been between 20 and 43 years of age and 68 percent have come from Oakland County.

Men do not have to be laid off to use the service. They may be dissatisfied with their job and not sure what change would be best, or their goals have changed and they need help clarifying their values.

The Adult Career Counseling Center, at 147 O'Dowd Hall, is directed by Howard Spletz of the School of Human and Educational Services, and is available to adults without charge who are seeking guidance regarding career possibilities.

The center has SIGI PLUS, a computerized career guidance program that helps clients focus on the type of career for which they are most suited, academically and personally. Two other career guidance programs also are available: DISCOVER, which is an occupation inventory program, and MOIS (Michigan Occupational Information System), which provides similar information about jobs and their availability in Michigan.

Four graduate assistants enrolled in the counseling program, Christine Kortzyk, Lucille Kus, Anne Sutton and Elaine Tsangarides, are counselors at the center.

Hours of operation during the fall are: Mondays, 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.; Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays, 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.; and Fridays and Saturdays, 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. For an appointment, call 370-3092.

For those who need more extensive career or personal counseling, a free service for students and community members is available through the Practicum Counseling Center, also on the first floor of O'Dowd Hall at Oakland University. The center's full hours are: Mondays and Wednesdays, noon to 9 p.m.; Tuesdays and Thursdays, 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Call 370-4176 for an appointment.

Photos depict county parks

Area residents can learn about Oakland County's parks via a traveling photo exhibit on display from Nov. 21 to Dec. 12 at the Troy Community Center.

The free-standing display features colorful photos highlighting the events and facilities at the nine Oakland County parks and golf courses.

Brochures depicting golf, cross-country skiing, camping and nature study will be available.

The Troy Community Center is on West Big Beaver just east of I-75.

Lighthouse needs volunteers

Lighthouse, in Pontiac, needs volunteers to work four hours per day, four days a week to assist its housing staff.

Lighthouse is not a shelter, but an agency that administers a variety of programs to combat homelessness.

Information is available through Val Mellon at 335-7711.
