Faxon bill would alter school aid measure

A Senate subcommittee last week approved the proposal of state Sen, Jack Faxon (D-Farmington Hills) to reduce the impact of the executive state school aid plan on most school districts in Oakland County.
"The proposed 1990-1991 executive school plan would be disastrous for most Oakland County districts," said Faxon, the only Democratic member on the Senate Subcommittee on School Aid Funding.
"I am extremely pleased that the subcommittee chose to alleviate inequities in the executive plan by approving my proposal."
THE EXECUTIVE budget proposes limiting the increase in school taxes for homeowners to the rate of inflation and reimbursing school districts for the loss through additional state financing.

According to Faxon, this reimbursement would be financed by reducing the amount of state aid to better financed districts for categoricals such as transportation, special education and overation education.

"Most Oakland County and other better financed school districts would be doubly penalized," Faxon said.

"Not only are they denied state funds for their education programs, they are being asked to pay for state programs in other districts out of their own local tax base."

THE PROPOSAL to increase the recap-ure provisions of the State School Aid Act is going in the wrong direction," according

"We should be eliminating recapture, not increasing it," he said. "If the state requires a program, the state is obligated to pay for it."

It."

No proposal, other than a millage increase, is being advanced to enable districts such as those in Oakland County to replace revenue lost through limitations on property values, Faxon said.

"So what good is a property assessment limitation if the millage goes up?" Faxon asked. "You giveth with one hand and taketh with the other, but you taketh more than you give."

Faxon's amendment would make certain the promise implied in the executive plan "is a reality and not some voodoo bookkeeping," he said.

"By holding recaptured dollars to no more than they were last year, we cannot lose any more but we will only gain," he said.

THE EXECUTIVE proposal would in-crease recapture dollars by adding state li-nancing for school employees' Social Security to the list of categoricals subject to "re-capture" by the state.

"The state has continuously paid the Social Security of school employees to all districts equally," Faxon said. "That should remain. No one should be tampering with something that works.

"I will vigorously oppose any effort on the part of those who would seek to play Robin Hood with our school districts."

The recommendation of the Subcommit-tee on School Aid Funding will go the full Senate Appropriations Committee for action in the next few weeks.

Plan targets smokers

Discriminating diners will be able to preview more than the menu when they enter a restaurant if anti-monking legislation introduced by Sen. Jack Faxon, D-Farmington Hills, becomes law.

A floor plan, designating smoking and non-smoking area, would also be posted.

"When non-smoking diners enter a restaurant, they will immediately know whether the establishment is considerate of their desire for etean air," said Faxon whose district covers Farmington, Farmington Hills and Southfield.

"They also will know whether the restaurant is complying with state law, which forbids discrimination in the location of tables for non-smokers."

law, which forbids discrimination in the location of tables for non-smokers."

Under Faxon's bill, a copy of the floor plan would have to be filed with the local health department and amended whenever the floor plan is changed.

"The citizens of Michigan should not be required to expose themselves to a serious health risk every time they want to go to a restaurant," said Faxon. "Nor should they be led to a table next to the kitchen whenever they ask for a non-smoking area."

The measure also would increase the number of tables which must be reserved for non-smokers in most restaurants and would eliminate the exemption for small restaurants from non-smoking area requirements.

Under Faxon's proposal, a restauexemption for small restaurants from non-smoking area requirements.

Under Faxon's proposal, a restaurant that has only counter seating must provide at least 50 percent of its seating capacity for non-smokers and other restaurants must provide at least 40 percent of seating capacity of ron-smokers.
Current law requires restaurants with a seating capacity of 30 to 100 people to provide seating for 12 non-smokers. Restaurants with a seating capacity of 100 to 150 people must provide seating for at least 24 non-smokers and restaurants with a seating capacity of 100 from than 150 must provide seating for at least 24 non-smokers and restaurants with a seating capacity of more than 150 must provide seating for 36 non-smokers.
