'Architect Series' debuts

Windows that keep your house warm . . . windows that bring back style and charm . . . are featured in the many window displays at the 1990 International Builders Home Flower and Furniture Show.

Pella windows and doors has a revolutionary new entry into the divided light window market called "The Architect Series."

The idea for the series came from an ongoing problem experienced by architects across the country: How to produce a highly energy-efficient thermal window in the designs of the classic divided light windows of eras gone by.

Pella met the challenge by using a radical new manufacturing technique called integral light technology. This new technology enables Pella to produce the series as standard insulating windows that combine the custom-crafted window beauty of years gone by with a product that meets the modern consumer's demands for maximum thermal insulation.

The authentic historical look of the series is achieved by the narrow width of the wood muntins (window pane strips) that are permanently bonded to the interior and exterior window surfaces. Strength and structural performance is achieved by the steel grid, which is in the same pattern as the muntins and sandwiched between the panes of insulating glass.
