

Cable TV workshop is a good spring project

With spring upon us, much in our lives may be renewed. As with a garden, debris from fall and winter must be cleared away to make room for new growth.

Many will begin exercise programs, join a support group, become acquainted with church or synagogue and begin another semester at school. As these types of activities prevail, give a fresh thought to taking television workshops. They consist of one evening for four weeks.

Encourage your group, organization or class to experience a project together. The TV class will teach each of you new skills and therefore greater self-esteem; strengthen the bond within the group as a television production team and therefore give more meaning to its purpose. This and result will also provide a video television show which will promote your group.

Call to receive a workshop brochure at 472-7266. (If you have 15 people in our group who are interested in classes, ask about a personalized "organizational" workshop).
