

Local cable producer eyes national award

One of our original resident producers has been honored by being nominated in national recognition for the system "ACE" awards.

The "ACE" awards represent the cable systems throughout the United States.

Denise Swope produced and co-authored with Terry Kelley a public service announcement entitled "Stop Child Abuse."

An access producer in his own right, Tom Daugherty participated as audio technician and announcer. Vic Spicer produced the Claymation. Denise originally spent much time with Novi Jaycees, encouraging them to make use of the television medium. She went on to work on documentaries of social consciousness.

Denise emphasized that the technique of Claymation was used as the animation source so as not to blame anyone. Child abuse is a chain reaction from generation to generation as well as specifically from verbal abuse to physical abuse. The groups of parents anonymous and Gannett outdoers were resources of involvement.

The ACE awards will take place
