

OCC cagers lose heart

The heart of Oakland Community College's men's basketball team last season will be pumping life into a lot of different programs next season.

Three key members of OCC's team have received scholarships to continue their education, and three others are considering options.

Tolme Murphy was the top Raider prospect. As OCC assistant coach Chris Peponis said, "All the coaches liked his versatility."

They also liked his 6-foot-6 height, as well as his deft ball-handling and shooting (19 points a game last season). The team that won out was Austin Peay, an NCAA Division I school in Clarksville, Tenn.

Other finalists on Murphy's list were Arkansas-Little Rock, Lamar, Butler, Eastern Michigan and University of Detroit. Murphy also averaged 6.8 rebounds and 4.5 assists.

He'll have junior eligibility. Austin Peay, a member of the Ohio Valley Conference, was 13-16 last season. There will be another addition to the Tennessee-based team. Peponis has accepted a graduate assistant coaching position.

A MAJOR reason for OCC's success last season was Mike Bailey, a 6-3 forward who led the team in scoring (20.2 points) and rebounding (10.4). Bailey has signed with Norfolk State, an NCAA II powerhouse from Norfolk, Va. Bailey will have two years of eligibility left for a team that went 27-2 last season and was ranked as high as second nationally.

The third Raider to commit was Ed Pasque, a 6-3 off-guard who averaged 10.4 points, 5.2 rebounds and 5.3 assists for OCC last season. Pasque is headed to Eckerd College in St. Petersburg, Fla., an NCAA II school that was 18-9 last year.

The Raiders still considering their options are Bobby Dinges, a 6-4 shooting guard who averaged 12 points and made 52 percent of his three-point efforts; Tim Robertson, a 6-4 forward who averaged 12 points and five rebounds; and Tim Maxwell, a 6-7 reserve forward.

Dinges is hoping to land a spot at one of three New York-based NCAA I schools: Hofstra University in Hempstead, Long Island University or Wagner University, on Staten Island.

Robertson may join Bailey at Norfolk State. LaCrosse (Wis.) College and Siena Heights are also possibilities. Maxwell may end up at Siena Heights or William Penn (Iowa).

Red Hawks club Lakers

Troy Athens' girls golf team, behind the play of Drea Wieme, won for the second time in three Metro Suburban Activities Association matchups Monday, clubbing West Bloomfield 287-390.

Wieme, leading her teammates around the Tam O'Shanter course, earned medalist honors with a nine-hole total of 47. Julie Sperry followed with 54. Ann-Marie Pasalacqua shot 55 and Ann Gravelle chipped in a 61. Susie Sylvester and Lesley Sullivan rounded out the Red Hawks scoring with a 70 each.

Dana Kevelligham recorded the Lakers low round with a 57. Jenni Morris shot 76 and Lisa Peters added a 77.

WESTERN OPEN

Amy Frazier, of Rochester, and Carrie Cunningham, of Livonia, are scheduled to play in the Western Open Mixed Doubles Tournament today through Sunday at the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club. Frazier, ranked No. 22 in the world in women's singles, will team with Centaur Farms Racquet Club pro Armand Molino of Farmington Hills. Cunningham, who won the U.S. Open Junior title in 1988, will play with Wimbles Racquet Club pro Joe Fedell of Grosse Pointe.

The United States Tennis Association-sanctioned tourney has a $4,000 purse. Qualifying rounds will be held today and Friday and the round of 16 will begin play at 9 a.m. Saturday. The semifinal and final rounds are scheduled at 11 a.m. and 3:30 p.m., respectively, on Sunday. Also scheduled to play are Birmingham residents Kristin Steng and Steve Nash, and Blaise and Deirdre Keating. For tournament and ticket information, call 882-4100.

A portion of the event proceeds will be given to the Assistance League, a fund-raising and volunteer service auxiliary to one of Detroit's major providers of mental health services.

NO-TAP BOWLING

The Michigan Cancer Foundation invites area bowlers to participate in its fourth annual No-Tap Bowling Tournament, beginning Sunday at Plum Hollow Lanes in Southfield. Top prize is $4,000 and runners-up prizes include a suite for 10 at the Palace for a Pistons basketball game and the use of a Ford Taurus for a week, compliments of Ford Motor Co.

Southfield mayor Don Fracassi will be on hand to mingle and bowl on the first night, along with other local radio and sports celebrities and pro bowlers. Their scores will not count in competition. Other area sites scheduled for competition during May include Merri-Bowl Lanes in Livonia, Sterling Lanes (Sterling Heights), Bonanza Lanes (Warren), and Frontier Lanes (Mount Clemens). An entrance fee of $25 includes a sandwich and soft drink. For more information, call the Michigan Cancer Foundation at 833-0710.

JEWISH HALL

The Michigan Jewish Sports Hall of Fame has been announced and includes speed skating great, Ben Bagdade and two former basketball greats from the 1930s, Carl "Cubby" Bayer, and Henry "Honey" Berris. The hall is in West Bloomfield.

Bagdade was one of the founders of speed skating in Michigan and an Olympic Official for more than 20 years. He was inducted into the Speed Skating Hall of Fame in 1978 and in the Michigan Amateur Sports Hall of Fame in 1977.

Bayer was an all-city basketball player for Detroit Northern High in the early 1930s when Northern won three straight city crowns. He started for Wayne State University for three years and was co-captain the last two years. Bayer was a member of the Detroit Eagles, the city's first pro basketball team and later was a successful coach of the Alameda Naval Base basketball team, outside San Francisco.

Berris played basketball with Bayer at Northern and also was a member of the varsity basketball team. Berris went on to star at Wayne State and later graduated from the University of Michigan Dental School in 1942. Berris stayed involved with basketball as the team dentist of the Detroit Pistons, after the team moved from Fort Wayne, Ind. The trio will be inducted into the Michigan Jewish Sports Hall of Fame at the annual banquet to be held on Monday, Nov. 5 at the Congregation Shaarey Zedek. For ticket information, call 788-0921.

GOVAN SHINES

Char Govan, a West Bloomfield resident and graduate of Livonia Ledywood, capped a fine collegiate basketball career by being named the Illinois State University Most Valuable Player for 1989-90. Govan led the Redbirds to a 21-11 overall record, including a 14-1 Gateway Conference mark and a berth in the National Women's Invitational Tournament.

LACROSSE CAMP

A youth summer lacrosse program for boys under high school age this summer is being held at Bloomfield Hills Cranbrook. The program will be run by Cranbrook coach Ron Hebert and Michigan State University coach Richard Kimball. Cost is $80, including a free lacrosse stick. For more information, call Hebert at 645-3134.
