Workshop aims to better your home videos

"Home Video Enhancement" is the title of a workshop laught by Bob Carlson at the MetroVision Television Studio.

Bob heard so many of his fellow television volunteers worrying over the on-location unexpected events that he sought away to personalize the on-location experience.

He found that many participants have their own VHS cameras. He thought that if they could learn to familiarize themselves with the equipment at home and begin to take their home footage seriously that they could pacify that their home footage seriously that they could easily transfer this to the larger remote equipment provided

Well MetroVision's staff coordina-tor. Kathy Friedrichs agreed. Metro-Vision also is going a step further by buying a Time Base Corrector which will enable the home footage to be-cleanly transferred into the cable-casting format of ¼ inch.

The workshops have gone so well that Bob is anticipating producing a video series of these workshops for Channel 12. The objectives will be to use your own camera and give you confidence that you can do a good job.

The second objective is to reach community access graduates who are afraid to go out on location and
