

Spartans take swim title from Salem

By Brad Emmons

"The message was loud and clear. Friday during the finals of the Western Lakes Activities Association swim meet: 'Don't Mess with Buckler's Boyz.'"

With T-shirts bearing that slogan, along coach Doug Buckler's illustration draped on the back — ironically resembling that bad man from Iraq — meet favorite Livonia Stevenson went out and did what was expected, winning the WLAA championship with a team-high 499 points.

Northville, the Western Division champs, finished a strong second in the 12-school field with 442, nosing out host Plymouth-Salem, which tied by five points. See statistical summary.

"That picture (on the T-shirts) makes me look like a dictator," chuckled the emotionally drained Buckler, who led Stevenson to its first WLAA crown since 1987. "But I'm wound up every meet. That's the way I am. I think that psyches the kids up."

When the Spartans dumped blue-colored water (their school colors) in the pool, while orchestrating a collective victory cry, Buckler was right in the thick of things with his boys. "It was pure instinct," said senior Taki Caranicas, who won the 50-yard freestyle. "He's crazy, very intense at times."

Added Stevenson senior Aaron Rider, who placed second in both the 200 individual medley and 100 freestyle: "Everybody needs to be pushed, but he also brings the team together. It's like a family."

RANKED NO. 8 in Class A, the Spartans demonstrated their power by winning five of 12 events, including the meet's final race, the 400 freestyle relay.

Chris Knoche of North Farmington was second in the 200 freestyle and third in the 500 freestyle Friday at the WLAA meet.

capped off a great night with a first-place time of 3:20.09, edging second place North Farmington (3:20.4), Rider, Ryan Freeborn and Mike Gravina rounded out the winning foursome.

But prior to the race, Buckler cautioned his quartet to not jump any starts in fear of losing valuable points. Eighteen places were awarded in each event. Individual first-place finishers were given 24 points, second place, 21 — all the way to 18th, one point.

"I had a lot of adrenalin, he (Buckler) told me 'just go fast,'" said the 6-foot-2 Morrison, who was suffering asthma because of the body oil (nooton lotion) he had applied.

FREEBORN, a sophomore, followed by winning the 100 backstroke in 55.91. Teammate Alex Guecke, also a sophomore, added a victory in the 100 breaststroke (1:01.6) as Stevenson captured the final three races.

"I was worried all three days (qualifying started Wednesday) because you've got a great team in Northville, a great team in Plymouth-Salem and great teams in (Plymouth) Canton and North Farmington," Buckler said. "The whole league swam great and I knew they'd be shooting at us, but after we (Freeborn) won the backstroke, I knew we were in good shape."

The meet's individual standout was Westland John Glenn's Matt Martin, a sophomore who set a meet record in the 200 individual medley (1:56.51), breaking the 1989 record of 1:57.34 set by Salem's Ron Orris (now at Michigan State).

Martin also came back to win the 500 freestyle in 4:45.76, beating out Morrison.

"He (Martin) is one of the best this league has ever seen," Buckler said. "He's right there behind the great Ron Orris."

Another league record fell in diving, where Northville's Steve Lang tallied 492.15 points, topping the mark of 462.7 held since 1986 by Canton's Andy Flower.

NORTHVILLE also won three other races — the 200 freestyle relay (1:29.89), Brad Cook in the 100 butterfly (54.16), and Rob Holdridge in the 100 freestyle (49.21).

Salem captured the meet's first event, the 200 medley relay, as Curt Withoff, Jon Stridiron, Matt Erickson and Albert Sneath were clocked in 1:40.4.

"I thought we swam really well," said Salem coach Chuck Olson, whose team had won the WLAA crown three consecutive years. "To come within five points of Northville after they touched us in a dual meet is very gratifying. I'm extremely pleased. With a race here and there, we might have been second."

But it was Stevenson's night to strut and Olson was one of the first to congratulate his friend Buckler.

"He (Buckler) did all the right things this year with that team," the Salem coach said. "Stevenson deserves its ranking in the state. I know they'll swim well next year but state and represent our conference."

Buckler, meanwhile, was all smiles and thankful for his team's effort.

"This is the nicest group I've coached," he said. "Not that the other teams I've coached haven't been nice, but this team was focused from Day One. I never lost faith in where we were going."
