Handyman helps you do it yourself

IF YOU'RE in metro Detroit on a weekend morning, listening to the typical fare of programs, commercials and music on your radio, move your dial to WXYT-1270 AM:

You may be in for a D.I.Y. (do-it-yourself) education.

DIY information fills the airways as Glenn Haeger, metro Detroit's foremost "handyman" expert, gives timely tips on simple home repairs.

Back by popular demand, Haeger once again will broadcast live from the builders show both weekends of the nine-day show, March 16-17 and 23-24, from 8 a.m. to noon.

Haeger has served metro Detroit's do-it-yourself hardware audience for eight years.

Known as "America's Master Handyman," he broadcasts his radio show from WXYT-AM 1270. Once a three-hour show, the program, due to its popularity, was expanded by an hour last year to air from 8 a.m. to noon every Saturday and Sunday morning.

During his talk show, do-it-yourselfers have the chance to call

Glenn Haeger
on the air

Haeger and ask him questions on topics ranging from how to fix leaky faucets to how to repair driveway cracks.

Haeger's show, at any time, has 200,000 listeners throughout the four-hour program.
