Yvonne Repard will repeat her wedding vows September 3 and when she walks down the aisle and out of the church she will be Mrs. Rick Bouchard.

Many young brides belong to the "now" generation. They enjoy casual, carefree living that does not include gloves, hats or regular visits to a beauty salon.

When the natural look — a minimum of makeup and long shining locks — became the "in" thing, young women like Yvonne all over the nation decided this would be "their look."

And because this has happened, we decided to give our brides-to-be some facts of life — where beauty salons are concerned.

DON'T HIRE US

If you want your wedding photographs to look like a book of large snapshots, Gimmick or cliche-type pictures soon lose their appeal. They are put away and are indeed lost. If you are looking for photographs that reflect the beauty of the day and the people that made it, then please read on.

EVEN those who know full-well the value of photography and understand the power each portrait has to spin a moment into memory ... still sometimes fail to realize the enormous value of photography in compiling a pictorial record of family growth and development. If they knew...tomorrow's heirlooms are being born today. They are family heirlooms...not from the dusty past; but from a wonderful today...symbolizing all that is best...all that is beautiful in one man's family.

Our patrons...who know and love fine photography...have been a constant inspiration to us to improve every technical and artistic detail of photography to a point of complete excellence.

We want you to know that your commission will be accepted with the deepest sense of responsibility ... for to create for you cherished portraits, which coming generations will treasure is an end we earnestly seek.
