Jennifer Jorissen's makeover consisted of a skin consultation, a facial, a manicure, pedicure, a waxed eyebrow treatment and a new hair style. The most dramatic change came with the new shape of her eyebrows created by Lolita Oslipants. Her sleek and curly new hair style was accomplished by Marzena Barwinski who pulled her hair to one side with graduating spiral curls.

All primped and polished for prom night, the teens pose with their new look. Above are Laurie Remer and Jennifer Jorissen. Seated are Kori Davidson and Alicia Barrett.

Alicia Barrett will be going to her prom with her eyebrows arched, her eyelashes tinted a few shades darker and nail tips she got with her manicure. Shawna Beach created the hairdo for Alicia's prom. Her hair is piled on her head. Peek-a-boo bangs accent both her eyes and lips. It's all very reminiscent of Bardot.

Laurie Remer got a deep pore cleansing facial and was put on a strict skin care regimen so her skin will glow, not only for prom night, but for all the years to come. She'll wear a French manicure for her prom and a hair style that stylist Dawn Kaczor called "scrunchy fun." It is a beautiful look, gelled and diffused with a smooth pomado and bang.

Kori Davidson, Harrison High's tennis champ, generally wears her hair in a pony tail. For prom night, stylist Shawna Beach has given her a do that has a '60s flair with a '90s attitude. It's a fun, high-spirited and very feminine coiff created with lots of teasing and a little spray. She had her eyelashes tinted and her eyebrows arched, but not much more. Her skin, the consultants said, "is perfect."

Makeup artistry creates the ultimate prom date

The ultimate prom date is the teen who is confident that she looks her very best and feels comfortable with that look.

Tamara, of Tamara's Institute de Beaute, invited four prom dates in to have the finest of aestheticians apply their know-how to achieve the ultimate look. Then she invited them back, and back again, to make sure they were comfortable with their new makeup and tints and eyebrows and nails and hairdos.

"One of the girls didn't like her new hairdo when she was wearing her sweat shirt, but she changed her mind when she saw how it looked with her prom dress — and now she's comfortable," Tamara said. "If the new makeup looked strange to any of the girls, we adjusted it until everybody was happy."

The pictures tell the story of the makeovers.

"We took before and after pictures and what we set out to achieve, we achieved," Tamara said. "The girls felt so good about themselves, they posed themselves for the pictures after their makeovers were complete, and they exuded confidence. They look wonderful, and it is not just the new makeup and the new hairstyles that did it. The camera captured how good they felt with their new look."

The teens who are attending proms this month with the ultimate look from Tamara's are Jennifer Jorissen, a resident of Farmington who attends Mersey High School, Alicia Barrett from North Farmington High School, Kori Davidson from Harrison High and Laurie Remer from West Bloomfield High.

Their makeup artist was Christina Lakatos. They received their facials and eyebrow arches from Lolita Oslipants. They got a body massage from Muriel Hunter.
