Talking car gets the week rolling

By Mary Ann Townsend

Beginning with the crime-fighting capabilities of a talking car, specials for the whole family are featured this week.

NBC starts off the week with the return of David Hasselhoff in his role as Michael Knight in Knight Rider 2000 on Sunday, May 19. It's the beginning of the 21st century and Knight must stop a gun-running ring. But first he needs to rebuild his partner in crime-fighting: his talking, thinking car, KITT.

ABC on Monday, May 20, offers The Best of Disney: 50 Years of Magic. The two-hour special celebrates the Disney films, characters and entertainment specials that have become part of the fabric of American life. The special stars Dick Van Dyke, Neil Patrick Harris, Harry Connick Jr. and Shelley Long, among others. Rare behind-the-scenes footage from Disney classics will be featured.

On cable, HBO continues its popular Babar series with "Never Cry Alien," premiering Tuesday, May 21. Based on the classic children's books of Jean and Laurent de Brunhoff, each episode of Babar begins as King Babar tells his children Alexander, Flora and Pom about his youth, and each concludes with a moral.

In "Never Cry Alien," Arthur pulls a prank that has everyone believing aliens are landing. The joke backfires when he sees a real UFO and nobody believes him.

James Brolin stars in the thriller Nightmare on the 13th Floor, rebroadcasting on USA, Wednesday.
