Where have you gone Detrot Adray Baseball League?

it ISimon and Garfunkei were slaging a new version to this tune, the answer would be: Litoraic Collegiate Baseball League.

With the folding of the Detroit circuit, players ages 20 and under have flocked to compete for jobs in the cight-team LCBL. Competition will be a lot stiffer this summer in the Litoraia league, which opens its seapriday at three different sistes.

Collowed by regular season champion Fieger & Fieger (formerly Daity's Plumbing of Litorain) against two-time LCBL playoff champion Walter's Appliance of Livonia.

"There are going to be larger crowds at the games this year because this will be the only place in the area to see college baseball," predicts Walter's manager Mike Keller, now in his 10th season.

Walter's has several players returning, including right fleider Jerry

Tom Holzer Ford, last place in the LCBL in 1990, has now become Delwal of Brighton.
Manager Bob Peterson, with the help of scout Fred Schmidt, has made some major connections with some of the state's top NCAA Division I school:

DELWAL'S top-name players include Leo Hutchinson (Redford Catholic Central), a pitcher at Eastern Michigan; tichers Mike Wiseley (EMU) and Tim Bruce (U-D Mercy), along with outleider Siew Money (MSU). Peterson also has Ron Hollis of Brighton, considered by many as the state's top high school player. Wendy's, menshelle, was second in last year's LCBU race.

Manager Dr. Brien Lang will rely on MSU's Hirschiman brothers Stu, a pitcher, and Steve, an outlein Common Michigan (Proposition of the Common Michigan (Proposition of the Common Michigan (Proposition of the Common of the Common Michigan (Playmouth Canton), who is now at Kansas City Community College, and Mike State (Cathon), an EMU hurler.

Hines Park should also get a boost from Joe Venturini, a Henry Ford CC standaut, who comes over as a pitcher/DH Irom the Adray Photo team of the defunct Detroit League. Another team loaded with local players is the Farmington-based To-late Travel Values squad, which will try to improve on last year's sixth place finish.

THE LCBL, will also have some foreign flavor this summer as Detroit Adray League refugee the C.P.O.A. Canucks, based in Windsor, Joins the group. The Canucks will be stocked with native Canadians and Wayne State University players.

"The Adray League was very good, but we were outclassed against teams like Adray Appliance and Adray Photo," Canucks manager. Tim Gillies said. "We hope to be more competitive at the Livonia level, although this league can only get better."

Now the only thing the league needs is another Joe DiMagglo.
