

Board passes school budget

lage is being earmarked in a third fund for small building and site projects which might arise through the year.

Flanagan warned residents Tuesday that activity is still high at the state legislative level, and that the district remains a target of more "midnight raids on our money" because of property tax reform. Most of the district's money comes from local property taxes. Flanagan encouraged residents to communicate with their legislators about school budget cuts.

"The big picture is things are getting more difficult and more difficult for us," he said. And, in terms of the state, "they don't think we have a problem."

on the agenda

To provide as much notice as possible to interested residents, the Farmington Hills City Council releases its preliminary agenda for the following week. Full agendas also will be published prior to the scheduled Monday meetings. All meetings are open to the public. Regular meetings are cablecast live on Metrovision Channel 18.

A public hearing is scheduled on the proposed 1991-92 city budget and proposed tax increase. The council is expected to adopt the budget and a tax rate following the hearing.

The council will consider enactment of a zoning amendment for the definition of housing for the elderly, as well as enactment of an ordinance for the regulation of community septic systems. Ordinances are expected to be introduced to add two sites to the historic district.

The council also will consider retaining a land appraiser and landscape architect for the proposed purchase of the old sold farm on Eight Mile.

Among the topics to be discussed will be a butterfly count for July 7. For more information about the club call Joe Derek, 478-9255.

tation, athletics, staff training and capital projects this fall.

The district has changed its accounting practices this year, separating revenues and expenses into three funds.

The state is allowing the district to budget special education center programs separately — something the district requested because officials say it inflates the budget and per pupil spending figures. Oakland County reimburses the district 100 percent for those programs.

Also, some county allocated mil-

All-night party set for North graduates

The 15th annual North Farmington High School Senior All-Night Party will be held June 9 from 10 p.m. to 4 a.m. the following morning. Sponsored by the senior parents, this party is a tradition at North Farmington as an alternative to individual graduation parties. Typically, more than 90 percent of the members of the class attend the party; this year's class has 280 students. The theme for this year's party is "The Class of '91 World Tour." Each student will receive a passport upon entering the party, and credit will be given as each student visits different countries represented.

THESE CREDITS will be periodcally during the course of the night to participate in bidding for gifts which will be auctioned.

Chairing this year's event are Backsoon Kim and Norene Yuskowatz. Committee heads include Yuskowatz, Sandy Harrison, Doug Pawlowski, Wendy Malley, Cookie Markowitz, Bob Shubow, Dave and Pam Haron, Ann Juliano, Alice Kahn, Sherrie Branton, Joey Pawlowski, Susan Krall, Betty Yoshida, Roy and Linda Lindhart and Steve and Linda Billecke.

The party will end with breakfast and closing ceremonies will begin at 4 a.m. hosted by newly appointed assistant principal Rick Jones.
