

Panning for gold

Families sought for students

International Education Forum is seeking host families for the 1991-92 academic year. Host families are asked to provide room, board, transportation, and guidance to an international high school age student from European, Scandinavian or Eastern Bloc countries.

The students come on three-, five-, and 10-month programs. Anyone interested in hosting an international student should contact the regional office at (800) 825-8339. A coordinator in the area will meet with interested families to explain how rewarding this inter-cultural experience can be and to answer any questions.

With the propensity for misplaced pens, purchasing a premium pen is predominantly postulated to be prohibitive. One might potentially predetermine the prolonged pontification of this point to be pedantic. But, when your pen possesses a proclivity for perfection, a predisposition for prolonged performance and a prudent price tag, you may perceive a profound improvement in your penmanship. And that's precisely the point of the right pen.
