Hines Park misses playoffs

By Steve Kowelski

David Carroll, the first-year coach of Ilines Park Lincoln Mercury, will have plenty of time refurbishing the old house he and wite Christine purchased recently in Dexter.

That's because Hines Park's season ended Monday at Livonia's Ford Field, when it spilt a doubleheader with Wendy's, and finished one point shy of a Livonia Collegiate Baseball League playoff berth. Hines Park kept its hopes altie with a 7-3, eightlinning win in the first game, but wendy's railled for a 2-1 win in the nightcap to leave Hines Park in fifth place at 14-13-12 plopins.

Delwal beat Fieger an Fieger, playoff spot with a 14-12-2 record (10 points). Delwal will play No. 1 seed Walters' Appliance (20-7-1) at 5-30 pm. Wednesday at Ford Field.

Third place Fieger and Fieger (15-12-1) meets - second place - Redford-Little Caesars (16-11-1) at 8 pm. at Ford Field.

So Instead of getting ready for the opening round of the playoffs, Carroll will be spending time around the house.

Saturday's 10th-annual Class A All-Star softball game will include some familiar faces.

Garden City, which lost in the Class A final to Waterford Kettering, is sending three players along with bead coach Barry Patterson to the classic, scheduled for 4 p.m. at Lansing's Ranney Park. Patterson will coach the White team, which will be led by Cougars' shortstop Carolyn Shanks, pitcher Tracy Thompson and first baseman Krystal Matesic.

No other Observerland players are on the White team's 18-player roster, but named to the Blue team were Livonia Ladywood's outfielder Andrea Crichton and catcher Kim Supron, and Farmington Hills Mercy's pitcher Maureen Paulin.

The day will begin with the Class C-D game, scheduled for noon, followed by the Class B game at 2 p.m. All-day tickets cost $2 for adults and $1 for children. The games are sponsored by the Michigan High School Softball Coaches Association.

Coaches Association.

Patterson, named the Observer's Coach of the Year after guiding Garden City to a 34-3 overall record, looks forward to coaching his seniors one last time.
