To Clarenceville

Globolinks Are Coming

"Help, Help, The Globolinks." is the provocative title of Gian-Carlo Menotti's space-age production for children which will receive a Michigan preview premiere in Clarenceville High School Sunday, March 21.

Featuring Overture to Opera, a non-profit Detroit-based organization, "Globolinks" will be presented under the auspices of the Clarenceville Entertainment Series, also a non-profit organization.

The single 2:30 p.m. performance will be given in the Louis E. Schmidt Auditorium, 20155 Middle Belt, Livonia. Tickets are priced at $1. They are on sale at all Clarenceville schools this week. Mrs. James Garrison and Mrs. Jack Rowens also are selling tickets. The box office in the Schmidt Auditorium will be open from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. Thursday and Friday, March 18 and 19.

For the Michigan premiere an exciting production has been designed by award-winning Tim Dewart. Globolinks costumes are fantastic in design, sculpture made from auto parts.

The 70-minute program begins as a broadcaster announces that an army of space invaders called Globolinks has landed on earth.

Guns, cannons, tanks -- nothing can stop them, and anybody they touch will turn into a Globolink himself with 24 hours. But the one thing the Globolinks cannot abide is the sound of music -- solid, melodic, old-fashioned music, produced by real instruments and played by real people. When they hear it, they scatter and run away.

THE GLOBOLINKS are electronic-music people. They converse by means of blips, beeps, and squiggles. They are creatures of fun that resemble top hats stacked one

THE MENOTTI opera will be staged in Ford Auditorium, Detroit, with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, Saturday March 27 at 11 a.m. and 2 p.m., and in the Detroit Institute of Arts Auditorium, Wednesday, April 7, at 12:30 p.m., and Thursday, April 8, at 8 p.m.

According to the producer, Dr. David DiChiera, general director of Overture to Opera, it is a delightful fantasy filled with humor which features electronic music, to represent the Globolinks, and the traditional Menotti melodies "which save the world." There is heavy emphasis on modern dance in the production.

Freedonia, N.Y., where he majored in music education, he is currently an assistant director of lay students at the college.

He made his first appearance with the Overture to Opera Company last December as Balhazar in another Menotti opera "Amahl and the Night Visitors."

Other Southfield residents in the play are Janet Rogers, as one of the children, and Harriet Freedman, Laura Freedman and Erica Herman, who play Globolinks.

Dr. DiChiera believes that the future of opera in America rests upon the continued growth of regional companies such as Overture to Opera. Playing to young audiences today, he contends, is helping to create supportive audiences for opera tomorrow.

Overture is comprised of the best young singers, dancers, actors, designers and directors from Michigan, in addition to highly regarded national and international performers.

It has helped further the careers of such artists as Muriel Greenspan, star of New York City Opera and Festival of Two Worlds, and Richard Conrad, renowned coloratura tenor and featured on London Records.

Conrad has one of the eight principal leads in "Globolinks" along with 19 children and six Globolinks.

He's Shy

The octopus is not a deadly menace to swimmers, despite its reputation. Actually quite shy, the animal retreats or camouflages itself when a diver approaches.

College Band Set For Tour

ALMA of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Richardson, a flutist with Alma College's colorful 70-piece Kiltie Band, leaves Sunday, March 21, with the band on its spring tour of Michigan and Wisconsin.

Miss Richardson, a freshman at Alma, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Richardson. She is a graduate of North Farmington High School.

Acclaimed as an outstanding concert unit, the Kiltie Band is also widely known for its marching performances in uniforms of Royal MacPherson tartan.
