Ten Years Ago

Birmingham was eleven miles from the limits of a city of 700,000 people.

TODAY

FARMINGTON is five miles from the limits of a city of 1,500,000 people.

This great city is growing just as fast as the smaller one did; everybody is talking decentralization and suburbs and there is no World War to retard growth, development and prosperity.

You must admit there were wonderful opportunities to make money on real estate at Birmingham ten years ago.

We believe there are more wonderful opportunities at Farmington today.

See us now! $100 will start you on the road to wealth and independence.
