COLLINS AND CEELEY
HEADLINE ON TEMPLE BILL

Madeline Collins and Leonard Ceeley, remembered as the principals of the Detroit company of "The Student Prince," headline the bill at B. F. Keith's Temple Theatre starting Sunday matinee. In England Miss Collins was operatic prima and Mr. Ceeley, tenor of the Royal Opera, Covent Garden, London. Miss Collins scored a great success in such roles as Nedda in "Pagliacci," Musetta in "La Boheme" and L'Amour in "Orpheus." In their song recital are two numbers for which Mr. Ceeley wrote the music. These are "Our Dream of Love's Not Over" and "Around the Corner." The lyrics for the latter number was written by Anne Campbell, Detroit poet.

Others billed: Harry Webb and Company in a cycle of tone pictures; Warren and O'Brien in a travesty by Dolph Singer called "What Priced Review;" Jutta Waley, and Company in "Sky High."
