Does Work of Many Men

An electric power shovel in a southern mine loaded 3,770 cubic yards of rock on a train of cars in eight hours—something it would have taken an army of 1,500 shovelmen to do. But it took only two men to operate the electric shovel, and the quantity of stone it handled would have made a 6-inch pavement 16 feet wide a quarter of a mile long. The genie in Aladdin's lamp was no more wonderful and powerful than our Twentieth century invisible electric imp.—Capper's Weekly.

Legend of Barbarossa

"Barbarossa" was a nickname given to Frederick I (1152-1190), emperor of Germany, owing to the color of his beard. Frederick Barbarossa was one of the three leaders of the Third crusade, the other two leaders being Richard I of England and Philip Augustus of France. Barbarossa was a prince of great valor and was endowed with strong character. He was drowned while bathing in a little stream in Cilicia, in Asia Minor, in 1190. According to a legend, it is said that Frederick Barbarossa never died, but that he is sleeping with six of his knights in Thuringia. At the appointed time he will come forth and lead Germany to the foremost place among the nations of the world.—Exchange.

STATE FARM GROUPS

TO SEE CORN BORER

Agricultural interests of Michigan will gather at the special European corn borer experiment station in Monroe county on Thursday, October 21, to inspect the ravages of this imported crop pest and to study experimental and test work.

County agricultural agents, farmers, farm organization heads and business men of the state have all been invited to view the work of the corn borer at first hand, and to learn of the methods being developed to combat the pest. The Michigan State College, the State Department of Agriculture, and the U. S. Department of Agriculture are all interested co-operatively in the special work of Monroe station.

Seriousness of the corn borer menace was reflected in the appointment last week at the college of an emergency corn borer committee, with all agricultural department heads and agricultural division executives at M. S. C. included in its roster. The work of this committee will include the pushing of experimental and research projects and the extension of educational material on the corn borer to the farms of the state.

"It looks at this time as though the corn borer would become the greatest menace which has ever faced American agriculture," said Dean R. S. Shaw of M. S. C. in appointing the special committee.

The fact that the borer has penetrated as far west in the state as Kalamazoo county was emphasized recently by Prof. J. F. Cox, head of the crops department at the college. Fourteen days of east and northeast winds in July are held responsible for the unusually rapid spread of the pest this summer.
