

A Happy Easter For Indian Kids

The outpouring was so great that not one but two groups of Michigan Indians got a pre-Easter treat from generous Observerland organizations.

Two-thirds of the gifts went to the 114 children in the 6-16 age group at Holy Childhood Indian Mission School, near Harbor Springs. The school, in the far northwest corner of Michigan's lower peninsula, is operated by the Sisters of Notre Dame.

Cross Village, about 30 miles north of Harbor Springs, where it was distributed to both Indians and whites in need.

Leading the effort was the Western Wayne County Conservation Assn. and project chairman Hank Chruscial, who stored his goods in his home at 19345 Brentwood, Livonia.

What To Do In A Tornado

The tornado season has begun (approximately March through September), and the Greater Detroit Safety Council urges everyone to review standard safety precautions.

A "warning" differs from a "warning." A "warning" referring to the possibility of tornadoes occurring between certain hours in given areas, and a "warning" states that a tornado has actually been spotted or detected.

The "warning" will state the tornado's location, the area that could be affected, and the approximate length of time the tornado will be active in that area. Persons who could be in danger should then calmly proceed with the proper safety precautions, so as to be in the most protective area available if and when a tornado should strike.

STRONG WINDS and changes in air pressure cause the greatest amount of destruction by tornadoes. Therefore, flying objects and exploding windows or walls are dangers to beware of when finding shelter.

You can help equalize the dangerous variations in air pressure in homes and buildings by opening windows and doors on the side of the structure away from the tornado.

Get underground if possible, preferably in a storm cellar, basement, cave, or (in the city, away from home) an underground parking lot or other area.

At home, the corner of the basement closest to the tornado will provide protection, allowing most objects to fall away from you rather than on top of you. If you don't have a basement, get to the center of the house away from outside walls and windows.

Lie on the floor against a strong inside wall and under a sturdy piece of furniture. Cover yourself with a rug. Do not go outdoors and do not get into a motor vehicle. Keep a battery-powered radio with you to listen to weather information.

SCHOOLS AND office buildings may have designated shelters. If not, go to interior hallways, in the basement if possible, and away from windows. Avoid gymnasiums, auditoriums, or other structures with wide, free-span roofs.

What if you lost your job tomorrow?

Things may be going pretty good now. But you never know what tomorrow will bring.

Suppose it's unemployment. How will you live?

What will you use to tide the family over while you look? Excuses?

Let's hope you never have to find out. But just in case, why not start saving now, while you have a "job." Join the Payroll Savings Plan where you work and buy U.S. Savings Bonds.

It's an easy way to build a nest egg.

And now there's a bonus interest rate on all U.S. Savings Bonds—for E Bonds, 5 1/2% when held to maturity of 5 years, 10 months (4% the first year). That extra 1/2%, payable as a bonus at maturity, applies to all Bonds issued since June 1, 1970... with a comparable improvement for all older Bonds.

With any luck at all your emergency fund may become a vacation, a college education, or a happy retirement.
