

NOBLE SCHOOL NOTES

Upper Room

We have 34 pupils in our room this year, an increase of 11 over last term. There are 6 in the fifth grade, 13 in the sixth, 10 in the seventh, and 5 in the eighth. Miss Ravell, the helping teacher, visited us on September 21 and conducted an English test.

The eighth grade students are making note books in conjunction with the study of agriculture. This class has also done some excellent work in arithmetic during September.

Among the newcomers in our room this year are Harold and Willard Credit, Jenny Belle Fairbairn, Ruth Casson, Dorothy Wersch, Alex Serra, Virginia Livingston and Robert Lockridge.

Last May the Noble School Hot Lunch club made health posters and exhibited them on County Achievement Day. They took first place then, and when they were shown at the Oakland County fair in August, they won first prize. The Noble School received a check for $5 as a reward. Especial thanks are due Miss Jensen and the girls of the Sewing club for this accomplishment.

During the summer vacation our oil stove mysteriously disappeared. Ralph Spaller, who is now a full-fledged detective, has taken up the pursuit of the criminal.

Our genial friend, Frank Kerr, usually prefers the back seats in the room but this year he is sitting close to the front.

New playground equipment, consisting of a May pole and three teeter totters, is now being enjoyed by the children of both rooms. The school board also purchased a football and basketball for the boys and girls. We wish to extend our thanks for these articles and we are certain they will tend to make the school year a pleasant one.

The football season was officially opened on September 22 in a contest between two picked teams.

We understand that Lionel Cornel has been invited to join the girls' sewing club this year. He earned this honor by displaying a wonderful talent for long continued talking.

Fred Brooks was painfully injured on September 14 while playing baseball. He fell on a

EAST NOVI DISTRICT

HAS A NEW BUS FOR THE SCHOOL CHILDREN

East Novi School now has a bus being used for the conveyance of their children to Farmington schools. After the dissolution of Novi unit school system, the people of East Novi School district voted to continue sending their children to Farmington.

They were dissatisfied with the conveyance formerly used and the new board purchased a bus of the Farmington Motor Sales, and is certainly not hard to look at. George Francis is the driver.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our friends and neighbors, Rev. Dunlavy, and for flowers sent during the illness of Mrs. Paulina Vogt, and in our bereavement.

Bernhard Meyers, Wife and Sisters.

If your sewing machine has been closed for any length of time, it will probably need a thorough going over. Wipe and dust it carefully, fill your oil can with kerosene, oil every part and run it vigorously without thread until well loosened up. Then oil with good quality of machine oil and go over all the parts again. Wipe and clean carefully, stitch on scraps until the thread is perfectly clean, and as a final precaution, tie a bit of wool on the presser foot above the needle to prevent any oil from running down on the work.

piece of glass which cut his leg so severely that a doctor's services were necessary.

Among those who have done excellent work in their classes during the first month are, Lucille Jacobs, Dolores Reavette, Kenneth Graham, Ralph Spaller, Dorothy Wersch, Gordon Wilkinson and Dolores Darwin.

One of our old friends, John Nowell, who graduated from the eighth grade of the Noble School last year, has written that he is attending high school in Hefflin, Ala. Another of our graduates, Charles Schulkins, is a member of the ninth grade of Farmington high school.

Mr. Meehan is in the market for a whistle loud enough to get Ralph Spaller out of bed before 8:30.

EMIL JANNINGS WILL APPEAR FIRST TIME AS AMERICAN STAR

"The Way of All Flesh," Emil Jannings' first American starring vehicle follows Norma Talmadge's "Camille" into the Adams Theatre next Sunday, October 16.

According to reports from critics wherever this picture has been shown, it is the crowning achievement of Jannings' brilliant career as the foremost dramatic film star of the world today.

It finds the great star of "Deception," "Variety" and "The Last Laugh" in a human, sympathetic role that demands all of his talents. The story takes Jannings through three separate and distinct cycles of life, each demanding an exactitude of treatment that required months of preparation and study. Emil Jannings expressed himself as highly pleased with the co-operation and methods of the American studios. Belle Bennett, whose "Stella Dallas" established her as a great screen artist, plays opposite. Phyllis Haver is the "other woman."

An Umbrella Tent

A Coal Range

—AND—

A Lost Dog

(A TRUE STORY)

Strange bed-fellows, almost anyone would say—an umbrella tent, a coal range and a lost Scotch terrier. Yet they met in the same place, and went their several ways, and the owner of each rejoiced.

The umbrella tent was first, and led the procession. Its owner wanted to sell it, so did the owner of the coal range, but the dog's master wanted to get him back. They all tried the same thing, and it worked, and it scarcely cost them anything.

The umbrella tent owner paid for three weeks' insertions of a want ad, on a Thursday morning. Two days later he cancelled it, because he sold the tent. The range was sold on Monday.

The dog matter was not so simple, but even quicker. A sister-in-law of a caretaker at a club in Bloomfield Hills told her brother-in-law about it the day after the ad appeared. In a few hours, the lost dog was back in Farmington.

This is not fiction, but truth. The characters herein and the things that happened to them are recorded among the files of the want ad columns of the
