Masculine cooperation is always welcome in preparing lobsters for baking. Place a live lobster on its back on a board. Hold firmly with the left hand between the claws and the tail. With a large sharp knife cut the body from the head to the tip of the tail. Be sure to remove the intestinal vein. Place the split lobsters in a large baking pan; sprinkle with salt and pepper; cover with melted butter. Bake in a very hot oven (450 degrees) for 15 to 20 minutes. The rest is all pleasure.
